Omaha Gets $10,000,000 Plane Factory

. . . UNDER DEFENSE PLAN

Assembly Plant To Employ 12,000 Men Or More

(From Associated Press Dispatches)

Big news in Nebraska Saturday was the announcement that Omaha has been chosen as the site of a $10,000,000 bomber plane assembly plant, one of four to be constructed west of the Mississippi.

Preliminary reports indicated the plant would be located at Fort Crook, would possibly cover 200 or 300 acres, and would employ between 10,000 and 12,000 people on its regular work shift, and under capacity operation might have a payroll of 20,000. Though detailed announcements were withheld, it was understood construction might start in about a month.

The prospective Omaha plant was one of four included in war department and defense commission plans revealed late Friday in Washington. A second, similar in size to that of Omaha's, is to be located at Kansas City, Mo.

Consider Tulsa Site.

Sites of the other two were not announced, but it was indicated one might be located at Tulsa, Okla. The combined capacity of the Omaha and Kansas City plants was placed at 2,400 medium two-motor bombers a year. The other two are to have an annual capacity of 1,200 four-motor planes.

By using automobile factories to supply materials, Washington officials said that the four plants would boost U. S. military aircraft production to 40,000 planes per year sometime in 1942. The planes would be for use of the United States and possibly for Great Britain.

Omaha's plant is to be operated by the Martin company of Baltimore, and the Kansas City plant by the North American Aviation corporation of California.

Officials estimated 15 months would be required to get the new assembly factories into mass production. Their output, it was explained, will be in addition to that of regular airplane factories, expanding now toward a production rate of 36,000 planes a year by early 1942.

Change In Plans.

The plan for making use of the facilities of the automobile industry to increase airplane production was reported authoritatively

SHERIFF GOES TO FUNERAL; FINDS FUGITIVE HIDEOUT

FALLS CITY, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—Sheriff Gates disclosed Saturday that he discovered the hideout of Charles Coates and Eugene Robinett, St. Joseph, Mo., fugitives who eluded officers in a man hunt near Dawson recently, when he attended a funeral.

The pair hid in a tool house far back in the cemetery and not visible from any road, making an ideal hideout, the sheriff said. Sheriff Gates attended the funeral of Dr. A. W. Montgomery of Stella and recognized a torn grave canvas as part of a large piece of canvas found in a stolen car which was abandoned. The shed is situated only five hundred yards from where the car of Bill Smith of Stella was taken.

Bristol Battered

. . . Many Fires Started

LONDON, Dec. 7 — (AP) — Bristol, one of Britain's chief west coast ports and the gateway through which many of her seaborne war supplies have been flowing into the industrial Midlands, bore the brunt of German bombing attacks during the night, the government reported today.

Numerous fires were set by the raiders and a hospital and many other buildings were damaged, a communique said. A number of persons were reported killed and injured.

RAF fighters shot down two axis bombers in engagements today, it was learned officially.

A few bombs also were dropped in the southern part of England and in South Wales, a government communique said, but it added that for the most part German air activity over the island was "not on a heavy scale." No bombs were reported at all in London.

The royal air force, meanwhile, attacked "enemy airdromes in occupied Belgium and northern France," an authoritative source asserted.

Nebraska Leads Whole Nation In Traffic Safety

The state highway patrol reported Saturday that on the basis of records for the first nine months of this year, Nebraska leads the nation in traffic safety compared with 1939.

"Traffic fatalities in this state were 21 per cent lower than in 1939 for the same period," the patrol's bulletin announced. "Only five other states were able to report any reduction, and these reductions ranged between 5 and 11 per cent.

"Nebraska traffic death total this year is 160, against 203 last year for the nine months, a saving of 43 lives. According to national figures that is equivalent of $1,935,000."

Court Urged To Demand Absent Precinct Vote

. . . In Written Briefs

in written arguments submitted Saturday, Attorney General Walter R. Johnson and Julius D. Cronin, Holt county attorney, urged the Supreme court to order the missing Verdigris precinct election returns be made available for inclusion in the official canvass.

The official poll book of Verdigris precinct in Holt county, presumably locked up by mistake with the ballots, may hold the answer to whether Nebraska elected Harry R. Swanson, incumbent secretary of state, or his republican opponent, Frank Marsh.

Oral arguments on the Johnson-Cronin request for a writ of mandamus to compel release of the missing poll book are set for Tuesday morning before the court.

In their briefs the public attorneys made three basic arguments:

1. The canvass of the state vote can not be complete unless the returns from Verdigris are included and no certificate of election can be issued until the canvass is complete.

2. A mandamus is a proper action to compel compilation of an official return from Verdigris precinct.

3. The attorney general and the county attorney were acting within the scope of their authority when they brought the pending mandamus action against the precinct election board and the county clerk.

Unless the votes from Verdigris are counted, the brief stated, the people of that precinct will have been denied the right of a vote in the last election.

"Can it be that because four tired men, after hours of fatiguing service on the counting board, absent-mindedly put the poll book and tally list inside a sack instead of outside of it, the citizens of an entire community are to be disfranchised — that the solemnly expressed will of that community shall be ignored?" the attorneys wrote.

KANSAS HIGH COURT OUSTS POLICE CHIEF

TOPEKA, Kas., Dec. 7—(AP)—The Supreme court ousted Police Chief Charles D. McNaught of Topeka today, basing its decision on an allegation that the chief was present when liquor was served to members of the Kansas Peace Officers association in the capital city in 1939.

The tribunal reversed its commissioner in the case, Fred M. Harris of Ottawa, who heard the evidence in a two-week session last July and recommended that McNaught be cleared.

The chief was suspended by the high court last April 23 after Attorney General Jay S. Parker brought the ouster suit.

Another War Chief Resigns

One of Original Big Four Of Italian Fascism Gives Up Command

(By the Associated Press.)

ROME, Dec. 7—Just short of a half-year of active participation in the European war, Italy has ordered imprisonment and crop confiscation of recalcitrant Italian farmers and "greatset impetus" in production of war materials while making two sensational changes in her high command.

Gen. Count Cesare Maria de Vecchi di Val Cismon, one of the original big four of fascism with Benito Mussolini, resigned today his command in the strategic Dodecanese islands and was succeeded by Gen. Ettore Bastico.

Yesterday Chief of staff Marshal Pietro Badoglio was replaced by Gen. Ugo Cavallero (and a broadcast today by the British Broadcasting Corp. quoted "neutral sources" at Rome for a report that Cavallero would confer shortly with the chief of the German high command, Gen. Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel.)

With the fascist high command reporting recapture of some Albanian positions by counter attack against the Greeks (after a series of drastic reverses), Italian political circles derived great

Crash Injuries Prove Fatal To Norman Chaney

Norman W. Chaney, 40, Giltner died at 7:30 p. m. Friday, of injuries received in a crash Tuesday evening near Greenwood.

The accident killed one man, Chris Schneider, Sutton, instantly. Chaney was brought to a Lincoln hospital, suffering severe fractures of the hip and shoulder, and internal injuries.

Although his condition was not thought to be critical at first, the physician said pneumonia and other complications developed, and the patient lost ground steadily.

Mr. Chaney was the driver of one car, in which two other persons were riding. Mr. Schneider was the driver of the other car, and was alone.

Nazi Dromes In Occupied Zones Blasted By RAF

. . . Raid Albanian Port

LONDON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Britain detached a "powerful force" of bombers from their usual nightly raids on Germany last night to range over occupied France and the low countries and blast the airdromes from which the Germans are attacking England, the air ministry news service reported today.

At Chateaudun, 226 miles southwest of Chartres in the plain of Orleans and at Melun, only 27 miles southeast of Paris, successful raids were reported. The Chateaudun airdrome was raided several times and explosions and fires were seen on runways and in hangars, the service said.

At Melun, "heavy bombs threw masses of debris into the air and the pilot could clearly see fragments of a building flying in every direction," it was stated.

In the low countries, despite clouds and ice, airdromes at Brussels, Rotterdam and Eindhoven were among those attacked.

Royal air force bombers were reported today to have made a new attack on Italian forces at the Albanian port of Valona and to have scored a direct hit on a munitions dump.

Great clouds of black smoke billowed up from the port after the assault, the air ministry declared.

Tax Payments Reach A New Record Peak

. . . Current Year Here

Payment of current city taxes to December 1, attained the highest percentage of the levy ever recorded, Theo Berg, director of finance reported Saturday. The total was $330,582 or 36.83 per cent of the levy. This was 1.36 per cent greater than at the same date a year ago.

These increased payments have resulted in a material increase in the number of receipts written, according to the director, who said that for the 25 days the office was open in November there were 14,529. This is an average of 581 a day.

Total tax revenues in November amounted to $234,026.37, of which $226,750 was for the current fiscal year, and $7,276.37 for prior years.

In his report to the director, Frank J. Miller, city treasurer shows that the cash balance on December amounted to $1,432,750, compared to $1,275,564.31 on Nov. 1. Credits for the month were $344,239.57, and debits, $187,053.33. Securities held as investments total $682,637.34.

Assembly In Favor State Sales Tax

Property Tax Cut Also Proposed By Delegates

Contending that property taxes are too high, members of the delegate assembly of the Nebraska State Teachers association Saturday went on record as favoring a sales tax as a replacement.

Concurrent with the discussion of the proposal, pre-election talk indicated that either Miss Belle Ryan of Omaha or Conrad Jacobsen of Holdrege will be the next president, succeeding G. F. Liebendorfer of Sidney.

It was not definitely specified how much the sales tax should be, but it was specifically set out that it would be levied only as a replacement, and not to exceed the total by which property taxes may be reduced.

For Severance Tax

A severance tax also was favored by the assembly, to protect the school funds in the event new tax sources are set up, especially on oil, new discoveries of which have been made in this state. It was the belief of the educators that a portion of the sales tax go to the schools, the thought being actuated by a realization that reduction in property taxes would mean a proportionate loss in tax revenues.

Action on the employment of a full time secretary for the board of educational lands and funds was deferred, leaders taking the stand that the recommendations did not set up adequate financing provisions. Then too, it was explained the proposal contained "certain educational implications" which should be studied more thoroughly than is possible in the convention. A study will be made by the executive board, and a recommendation made.

Defer Action

Deferred also was action on point No. 5 which provides that the federal government set up vocational training schools for NYA, independent of the public schools.

That the assembly delegates are interested in a number of suits that have been started with a view to preventing municipalities diverting fines from the school funds, was seen by instructions given to Archer L. Burnham, secretary. He is to make a thorough study of the status of all such actions, especially that requiring the state to replace all losses in the public school fund.

Support of the Nebraska Federation of Taxpayers leagues, was pledged on these activities:

Honest and equitable assessment of all property.

Proper budgeting, accounting and auditing for state business.

Same on city and village business.

Adoption of a standard fiscal year for all governmental agencies of the state.

Adequate taxation of intangibles.

Encourage studies of tax limitation, proportional representation, and the effects of taxation on multiple farm ownership.

Aside from the election, the reading and discussion of reports will take up the entire afternoon session.

Ask Custodian

The state railway commission Saturday received a request from the Burlington railroad for authority to substitute a custodian for its station agent at Trumbull, a station between Aurora and Hastings.

Greeks' Brave Stand Lauded

Fascists Fall Back To New Albania Defense Line

ATHENS, Dec. 7—(AP)—Italian forces were reported today to have abandoned Argirocastro, leaving parts of the inland Albanian base in flames. Dispatches from the front said Greek troops, advancing on Argirocastro from several directions, had established contact preparatory to occupation.

The road between Porto Edda and Delvino and the road south of Argirocastro already are occupied by Greek forces, it was said. The high command announced yesterday that Porto Edda, 15 miles southwest of Argirocastro and the main sea gateway to supply the Italians, had fallen.

Dispatches from the front said at least 3,000 prisoners were captured yesterday, along with more than 100 howitzers.

The howitzer was one of the Italians' principal weapons in the attempt to invade Greece which the Greeks turned into a counter-invasion of Italian-held Albania.

Greek units were reported advancing from Porto Edda with a new battle cry — "Tirana by Christmas!" Tirana is the Albanian capital.

Advance On 3 Fronts.

(By the Associated Press.)

Greek troops were reported following up retreating fascist columns closely today on three fronts where the Italians apparently were falling back to a new defense line—possibly for a last stand in the mountains of southern Albania.

A government spokesman declared the Greeks were smashing the Italians back toward Chimara, 20 miles north of fallen Porto Edda, and said the last fascist defenders of Argirocastro, whose fall he expected to be announced soon, were fleeing 15 miles north to Tepeleni.

Two other Greek columns—one striking toward Elbasani along the road from Pogradetz and the other driving northwest toward Elbasani from the Devol valley near Moskopolis—were reported advancing.

Chimara, Tepeleni and Elbasani are strong points of a possible defense line through the foothills, beyond which the southern Albanian terrain from fascist dispatches

Athens Monarch Expresses His Gratitude

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—An official of the Greek legation said today that the United States had offered his country "any kind of help it wants," including warplanes, for its war against Italy.

He spoke after the state department had made public an exchange of messages between President Roosevelt and Greece's King George II, in which Mr. Roosevelt assured the Greeks they could expect aid from this country.

"As your majesty knows," Mr. Roosevelt wrote, "it is the settled policy of the United States government to extend aid to those governments and peoples who defend themselves against aggression.

"I assure your majesty that steps are being taken to extend such aid to Greece which is defending itself so valiantly."

Offer Any Available.

The Greek legation official specified only planes in discussing with reporters the type of aid that might be forthcoming. He stressed, however, that this country had been given the opportunity to purchase whatever available war supplies it might need.

In other quarters it was learned that the Greeks were chiefly concerned with buying materials that are immediately available, and were not interested at the moment in placing orders for munitions that might require months to deliver.

The president's message was in reply to a communication from King George expressing his country's appreciation for Red Cross help already given by the United States.

Exact Aid In Doubt.

Mr. Roosevelt did not say what form this aid would take, but he did mention that the Red Cross already had sent "substantial amounts of funds and supplies for the relief of suffering" in Greece.

It was known, however, that officials were studying the question of whether military supplies could be spared without reducing amounts being provided Greece's ally, Great Britain. Sumner Welles, undersecretary of state, announced recently that Greece had appealed for aid through the American legation in Athens and the Greek minister in Washington.

Welles said the Greeks had asked permission to purchase certain aviation material and munitions in this country.

At that time, Welles told the Greek minister, Cimon Diamantopoulos, that the request was received with the utmost sympathy

Italians Rioting Over War

. . . GREEKS REPORT

By A. E. ANGELOPOULOS.

ATHENS, Dec. 7—(INS)—Serious internal disturbances, bordering on revolt, have occurred in Milan, Florence and Trieste as a result of Field Marshal Pietro Badoglio's resignation and the failure of the Greek campaign, according to reports received here today.

A number of persons were reported to have been killed and injured as a result of riots in Trieste.

The disturbances there were said to have developed into big clashes between a large crowd of demonstrators protesting against the war in Greece and blackshirts.

The disturbances in Milan and Florence broke out yesterday, apparently following disclosure of Marshal Badoglio's resignation. Badoglio is a native of Piedmont province, in which Milan is located.

The Italian people were reported to be deeply shocked by Badoglio's break with Mussolini. Many of them were said to be distressed by the feeling that Mussolini's present foreign policy is leading Italy into major disaster.

Damaged British Warship Heads For Montevideo

No Details Of Fight In Which Carnarvon Castle Hit

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 7—(INS)—Uruguayan naval circles today reported the 30,600-ton British battleship Warspite was speeding northward in search of the German sea raider that engaged in a naval battle with the British auxiliary cruiser Carnarvon Castle 700 miles northeast of here on Thursday.

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Dec. 7—(AP)—The British armed merchant cruiser Carnarvon Castle, damaged in battle two days ago with a German surface raider, was reported sighted this afternoon, making toward the entrance of Montevideo harbor at moderate speed and apparently without difficulty.

Welders had been called to the docks by the British consulate to make hurried repairs to the 20,122-ton vessel whose battle with a German auxiliary cruiser within the American neutrality zone ended, according to the London admiralty, with flight of the German.

With radio restrictions still hiding details of the battle about 700 miles off the Uruguayan coast, the Carnarvon Castle headed slowly into this port.

British legation officials would say only they had directed a hospital ship to stand by.

Mrs. Isaacson, an aunt of the banker, charged that she gave Bratt two checks of $2,900 and $3,100 for the purpose of removing from the bank's note case certain instruments which might be criticized by the banking department. Mr. Bratt was found dead in his car September 24.

6 In 10 Oppose Letting U. S. Ships Carry Goods Oversea

. . . Gallop Poll Shows

By DR. GEORGE GALLUP
[Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.]
Copyright, 1940

PRINCETON, N. J.—With Washington officials canvassing ways and means of increasing U. S. aid to Britain, a new survey of public opinion indicates that a substantial number of Americans—but less than a majority—would favor changing the present neutrality act to the extent of allowing American ships to carry goods to Europe.

Under the neutrality act invoked at the beginning of the war, American ships are banned from entering certain prescribed zones of the war, including waters around the British Isles. Not only must the British pay cash for what they buy, but they must carry it away in their own vessels.

To see how the American public stands on the general principle of relaxing this neutrality provision, One voter in seven (14%) said he was undecided on the question, but among those who definite opinions the vote was:

"Should the neutrality law be the American Institute of Public Opinion has asked voters in all parts of the United States:

changed so that American ships can carry war supplies to England?"

Yes, change act..... 40%
No, don't change act..... 60%

In a comparable survey reported shortly after the outbreak of the war in 1939, the Institute found 84 per cent opposed to permitting U. S. ships to continue in the trade with Europe.

ORCHARDS HARD HIT BY STORM

Orchards of southeastern Nebraska were hard hit by the severe storm of last Armistice day, E. H. Hoppert, extension horticulturist at the University of Nebraska, reported after a survey of the area.

Hoppert said there probably will be no crop of cherries, peaches or pears next year, and it will be "remarkable" if the damaged trees produce fruit in 1942.

Fruit buds on most trees, he added, were killed. Early varieties of applies, however, seemed to escape with little damage.

The secretary said details of the proposed changes were confidential.

Maurine Malster Honorary Colonel

. . . N. U. Military Ball Opens Formal Season

Maurine Malster of Aurora, University of Nebraska senior, Friday night was presented as the university R. O. T. C. corps' Honorary Colonel at the annual Military Ball.

Miss Malster was "rescued" from a forbidding stone castle by a squad of cadet officers and, resplendent in scarlet and cream uniform, led the traditional grand march to open the university's formal season.

More than 5,000 persons, dancers and spectators, attended the thirty-second annual event.

The new Honorary Colonel, escorted by Cadet Colonel Forrest Behm of Lincoln, received the salutes of the cadet corps. Through an arch of sabers, she and her company—Cadet Col. Warren Guinan of Lincoln with Mary Bird of Scottsbluff, Cadet Col. Harry Seagren of Omaha with Faye Irwin of Fullerton, and Cadet Col Guy Williams of Omaha with Nancy Mauck of Omaha—marched to the gubernatorial box where the corps was presented to Governor and Mrs. Cochran.

Miss Malster returned to the stage and was presented with a bouquet.

Miss Malster is 20, a senior in the college of arts and sciences, and is the niece of Mrs. Katharyn Shaneyfelt of Aurora. She is brunette, blue-eyed, has dimples and is interested in the piano. Miss Malster is president of the university women's residence halls and has attended the University of Colorado at Boulder. She was chosen by the student body from a field of five vying for the position.

Preceding the presentation, cadet officers executed maneuvers on the dance floor. A cardboard castle was erected on the stage and, after all other efforts evidently had failed, an engineer corps was called on to demolish the walls and release her.

As the exploder handle was pushed, the coliseum was blacked out. There followed the roar of an explosion, a blinding flash and the noise of falling stones and debris. Flood lights thrown on the stage revealed the Honorary Colonel standing in the hole blasted in the castle wall.

MAURINE MALSTER

Sylvia and Sharon Wright, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wright of Lincoln, were the flower girls, presenting the Colonel with a bouquet. Major R. E. Cruse, instructor officer directing the ball, was narrator for the ceremonies.

In the patrons' box, with Gov. and Mrs. Cochran, were Col. Charles A. Thuis, commandant of the cadet corps, and Mrs. Thuis, Chancellor and Mrs. C. S. Boucher, deans of the university colleges, members of the board of regents and their wives.

The program opened with a cadence drill by 15 members of the Pershing Rifles, honorary military science fraternity, commanded by Lt. Clark Ashton of Omaha.

Negotiations Start To Give Spain U. S. Credits For Foods

Franco's Position In Regard To European Conflict One Of Factors

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Secretary Hull said today that diplomatic negotiations were underway with the Spanish government involving the possible extension of credits for foodstuffs. No agreement has been reached.

(The Associated Press reported on Nov. 14 that Spain had requested a loan or credits of $100,000,000 with which to feed and rehabilitate a hungry Spain, but that action on the request was expected to await clarification of Spain's position in the European war.)

In reply to questions based on a report from Lisbon that Alexander Weddell, American ambassador to Madrid, had presented an offer to provide credits for foodstuffs and raw materials on the understanding that Spain would stay out of the war, Hull confined himself to the statement that discussions were under way.

U. S. Embassy Clerk At Paris Being Held By Nazi Authorities

State Department Awaiting Further Report Before Filing Protest

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—The state department announced today that it had received a report from Maynard B. Barnes, American charge d'affaires in Paris, that Mrs. Elizabeth Deegan was being held by German authorities in a small private hotel in Paris.

Mrs. Deegan was well treated and in good health, the charge d'affaires reported. He expressed hope that she would be released shortly.

The state department had awaited further information from Paris before deciding whether to lodge a protest with the German government against the detention of Mrs. Deegan, an embassy clerk.

Reports from Vichy, capital of unoccupied France, indicated that German authorities suspected her of having helped British officers escape from occupied France.

10 Million Dollar Bomber Plant, Omaha

to represent a revision of an earlier proposal to have motor car manufacturers turn out parts for 12,000 bombers.

That figure was used by William S. Knudsen, production chief of the defense commission, when he met with automobile manufacturers in Detroit in October. Under the present program more than three years would be required to produce 12,000 bombers.

Construction details of the Kansas City and Omaha assembly plants are still under negotiation but preliminary estimates placed the cost of each at $7,500,000 to $10,000,000.

These two and the two for which sites are yet to be announced are expected to turn out planes costing $1,000,000,000 a year at present prices of $200,000 for a two-motor bomber and $400,000 for each of the four-motor type.

Disclosure of the aircraft production plans topped off a day of defense developments which included an announcement that naval construction was turning out a new ship for the fleet every 12 days although navy yards still were short of peak efficiency.

Failure to attain this peak was attributed by Rear Admiral S. M. Robinson, chief of the bureau of ships, to obsolete equipment.

Ship Costs Up.

Increased costs in construction of naval shore stations and army posts were reported, meanwhile, in other authoritative quarters, and some officials privately expressed belief the increase might run as much as 20 to 25 per cent over the $2,000,000,000 estimate originally fixed for this work.

The navy, it was learned, is preparing to ask congress for additional funds.

Officials said the increases resulted chiefly from advances in wage scales and from higher material prices, with payment of overtime rates in some instances as a contributing factor.

Methods of financing the current cost of the defense program were discussed by Treasury Secretary Morgenthau at a conference with Chairman Harrison (D-Miss) and other members of the senate finance committee.

Morgenthau advised the senators that a forthcoming issue of defense notes would be held to $500,000,000 in order to give congress a chance to study government debt policy before further obligations were incurred.

A New Industry

OMAHA, Dec. 7—(AP)—Nebraska's new bomber factory, announced in Washington as part of the defense program, may provide an industry larger than Omaha's meat packing industry. Estimates of the number of men to be employed in the new bomber assembly plant range from 10,000 to 12,000, while the meat-packing industry employs about a 7,500 average.

Girl Identifies Her Attacker At Hospital

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., Dec. 7—(AP)—James Berton, 40, cross-country bus driver, was held in jail here today on a rape charge in connection with what Policeman B. E. Confer said was an alleged attack on Vivian Godfrey, 15, of Fort Dodge, Ia.

Officer Confer, who arrested Berton at his Ontario, Cal., home yesterday, said the girl had identified the bus driver as her alleged attacker, but that he had denied the charge.

Condition of the girl, confined in a hospital here by head and internal injuries, was reported to be improving.

Confer said he had learned that Berton had left a suitcase containing girl's clothing at an Ontario service station.

Wardner Scott Has "No Comment" On Tilley "Retention"

Wardner G. Scott, selected by Governor-elect Griswold to head the state department of roads and irrigation next January, said Saturday he has "no comment at this time" on whether State Engineer A. C. Tilley will be asked to remain with the department after the change is made.

From Gordon, Griswold commented Friday that he was leaving up to Scott the decision as to whether Tilley's services are to be requested "for a short time."

Italians Fall Back To A New Defense Line

banian ridges give way to the coastal plain and lowlands along the Adriatic.

The Turkish radio broadcast a report last night that the Greeks pushing into the Devol valley had set fire to Albanian oil fields which were described as an important Italian source of supply.

The resignation of Marshal Pietro Badoglio, Italian chief of general staff, a Greek spokesman said, "does not create an encouraging atmosphere for the Italians—coming as it does in the midst of battle."

A sharp nazi air attack on a "southwestern" English city, presumably Bristol, killed an undetermined number of persons and caused considerable property damage last night. The raid coincided with temporary failure of cable facilities between London and New York.

Contact Restored.

Western Union, whose services were interrupted for more than six hours, regained cable contact with London late last night and said that "trouble" had been encountered in the land section of the line in the Bristol area.

The British reported that the raid, elsewhere, was not on a large scale. London reported no bombings at all.

The full story of the naval battle in the south Atlantic between a masked German sea raider and the 20,122-ton British armed merchant cruiser Carnarvon Castle was awaited today in Montevideo, Uruguay.

The Carnarvon Castle radioed last night to report her intention of putting into that port for repairs and also to say that the nazi craft's superior speed enabled the raider to escape after "a stern chase."

ANOTHER ITALIAN WAR CHIEF QUITS

reporting a willingness by Yugoslavia to cooperate with the Rome-Berlin axis.

Foreign circles awaited some sign as to whether this "cooperation" would go so far as to permit Italian supplies or even troops to cross Yugoslavia to another sector of the Balkan war front, although indication of any such possibility was lacking in Italian quarters.

The fascist cabinet, meeting four days ago under Premier Mussolini, decided on a speed-up in Italian war material production and specifically provided penalties for mine owners who ignored the order. In the same session the cabinet ordered one-year imprisonment and confiscation of crops for any farmer withholding his products from compulsory storage.

Face Winter Shortage.

(Previous dispatches from Rome have indicated no "lack of discipline" or "comprehension" among Italian farmers, but Italy, weaker of the two axis powers in material resources, was reported on Nov. 29 by the United States department of agriculture to be facing a winter shortage of sorely needed foodstuffs and raw agricultural materials.

The agriculture department declared that the British blockade of the Mediterranean had cut off more than 80 per cent of Italy's imports.)

Gen. Bastico, 64-year-old commander of the motorized army of the Po and veteran leader of the blackshirt fascisti, was chosen by Mussolini to replace the 56-year-old Count Di Val Cismon as Dodecanese commander.

(The Dodecanese are an important cluster of Italian-held islands off the coast of Turkey and Greece in the Aegean sea of eastern Mediterranean, vital to any spreading of major warfare in the Balkan peninsula, Asia Minor or Eastern Egypt.)

The count had been civil and military governor there since November, 1936.

Policeman Accused of Prison Escape, Posing As Brother Ten Years

JOHNSON CITY, Tenn., Dec. 7—(AP)—White-haired Thomas H. Sapp, veteran of this east Tennessee town's police force, sat in a jail cell today, charged with escaping from a Texas prison camp and masquerading as his dead brother for the past 10 years.

Police Chief Tom Carriger, describing Sapp as "a straight shooter ever since he's been on the force," said the 55-year-old officer walked away from the prison camp in 1930 and soon afterwards became a sheriff's deputy here. He subsequently joined the Johnson City police force.

Carriger said Sapp was sentenced to 99 years imprisonment as Emory E. Sapp in 1919 for complicity in the slaying of his first wife five years before.

Married again and the father of three children, Sapp readily admitted his identity as Emory E. Sapp and expressed willingness to return to Texas and "face the music" with the hope that his "good reputation" here would help him, Carriger declared.

The police chief said Sapp told him the death of his first wife was accidental and that he was railroaded to the penitentiary for life."

by this government, but that it was a question that would have to be determined by other branches.

King's Message.

The message from King George said:

"In this hour in which my country is engaged in a hard and unequal struggle, forced upon it by an enemy whose actions are motivated by cruelty and violence, I am deeply moved by the warm sympathy and the keen interest manifested by the great nation whose destinies you guide.

"The noble American people have often in the past rendered assistance to my country in all critical moments of its history, and the recent organization of the Greek War Relief association is further proof that Philhellenism continues to inspire Americans of today in their lofty aims.

"Guardians across the seas of the ideals for which throughout the centuries Greeks have lived and died, Americans today are aware that the Greek nation is again fighting for the principles of justice, truth, and liberty, without which life for us is inconceivable.

"I wish to assure you that with the help of the Almighty, we will march forward until our sacred struggle is crowned with success. All moral and material assistance will strengthen the heroic Greek army and will bring it nearer to victory."

President's Reply.

In reply President Roosevelt said:

"I thank your majesty for your friendly message which comes at a time when all free peoples are deeply impressed by the courage and steadfastness of the Greek nation.

"The American Red Cross has already sent substantial amounts of funds and supplies for the relief of suffering in your country and I am sure that my countrymen will give generously to the new organizations which are being established for the same purpose.

"As your majesty knows, it is the settled policy of the United States government to extend aid to those governments and peoples who defend themselves against aggression.

"I assure your majesty that steps are being taken to extend such aid to Greece which is defending itself so valiantly."

Paper Industry's Importance Told In Talk By Chouinard

Paper and pulp form the tenth largest industry in the United States, Carroll Chouinard, director of the University of Nebraska publicity department, told the Interprofessional Institute at the Lincoln hotel Saturday noon.

"It is a one and one-half billion dollar industry by value of its products, involves another billion of capital investment and it adds 300 million dollars to the nation's payroll each year," Mr. Chouinard pointed out. The United States is the biggest producer and consumer of paper and pulp, as well as largest importer.

Water and milk are the only commodities we use more abundantly than paper. Some paper and pulp mills can be built for $2,000,000 but capital investment is often 10 to 12 million dollars in a single mill, the speaker stated.

Calling attention to the fact that this is the 500th anniversary of the invention of printing from movable types by Gutenberg, Mr. Chouinard added that every year we observe with respect to paper what Will Ransom, authority on printing and private presses, declares this year to be for printing: "not so much an anniversary of an invention as a recognition of its cumulative value to humanity."

The speaker sketched the history and manufacture of paper; status of the U. S. paper industry today and the outlook for the future.

TRI-COUNTY SEEKS TO END SQUABBLE WITH HASTINGS

HASTINGS, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—The Central Nebraska (Tri-County) Public Power and Irrigation district wants to end its long standing "controversy" with the city of Hastings, General Manager George Johnson indicated in a letter.

Writing to C. A. Rutherford, chairman of the council's water and light committee, Johnson asked the council to decide whether a temporary contract for sale of Tri-County power to the city should be extended on a permanent basis or discontinued.

"We have done everything we can do in our offer to assist the city to reduce its cost and rates to its customers," Johnson wrote. "We cannot afford to have this controversy continue."

LENGTH OF RAIL IS FOUND ON HIGHWAY

Nebraska highway patrolmen were trying to figure out Saturday how a 4½-foot length of railroad track got on highway 77, about 10 miles south of Lincoln. A bus driver saw the obstruction and called the patrol. The rail, which patrol officers said might easily have upset a car, was removed.

Ailing Woman Flown To Chile

SENORA CARLOS DAVILA, left, settles comfortably in a U. S. army bomber as it takes off from New York for her home in Chile. President Roosevelt sent the plane when he learned Senora Davila had to return to Chile to overcome an illness. At the right is Senor Davila.

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 7—(AP)—An over-water hop to Panama was laid out today for a United States army bomber speeding a former first lady of Chile to her native land in an effort to save her life.

Cause for cheer aboard the four-motored craft came from a report that Senora Carlos Davila, wife of the one-time president of Chile, withstood "remarkably well" a six-hour flight from New York yesterday.

Senora Davila rested overnight at a Miami hotel, then resumed the flight with an easy hop today to Panama.

As a result of President Roosevelt's intervention, Senora Davila is scheduled to arrive Monday at Santiago, Chile, where physicians say she has a chance to rally in the mild climate and familiar surroundings from a serious illness which two operations failed to cure.

Addressing a message to Mr. Roosevelt aboard the warship Tuscaloosa in the Caribbean sea, she said:

"Flying down to my country and, I hope to health, I wish to express my deepest gratitude to the president of the United States who made this possible."

Southwest Center Has Housewarming

... In New Building

For the first program in the new building at 3141 South Eleventh street, the Southwest Community center had a housewarming Friday evening. Louis Horne, the secretary of the Lincoln Community Chest, spoke briefly and brought greetings to the center, and members of Farragut W. R. C. No. 10 presented a silk flag.

Representatives from the community spoke on the activities, with Mrs. L. G. Ritchey talking on the children's work; Rex Watson on the youth clubs, and Mrs. Adolph Peeks on the adult. Students from Lincoln studios presented accordion numbers and tap dances, and the center's pre-school rhythm band and children's orchestra gave groups of selections.

According to Mrs. Ruth Wiles, the director, the new enlarged quarters will mean an increased program at the center. As soon as possible, classes in square and social dances and pinochle clubs, which have been requested, will be inaugurated, as well as classes for the young people. Residents of the community have been working for some time on remodeling and repairing the building.

Announcement was made that the branch library, which was established at the old center some weeks ago, was removed to the new building, and books may be checked out there. The center is open Monday through Friday, both day and evening, and Saturday morning. More than 200 patrons and their families were present Friday evening.

German Raider Changes Appearance Day To Day

... Sowing Southern Waters With Many Mines

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—A British sea captain—given up as dead by all but his wife—declares that a German sea raider, sowing southern waters with hundreds of mines, is a huge rebuilt liner whose appearance is changed from day to day like stage scenery.

Capt. Cornelius Arundell, a prisoner aboard the raider for 64 days following the sinking of his vessel—the 5,207-ton Maxby—by the nazi ship near Bermuda last April described the raider as a "decent size man-of-war, much more than 10,000 tons." It carried provisions, he added, for a 3-year voyage. The captain escaped when a British submarine appeared and another ship to which he was transferred was scuttled.

The marauder, he said, carried elaborate disguises, which changed her appearance daily—her equipment including even a telescopic funnel which transformed her superstructure.

The 59-year-old British skipper came here to command an American freighter recently purchased by Britain.

He said the German ship carried six guns, four of them broadside, and a huge supply of mines.

While he was a prisoner on her, Capt. Arundell said, the ship changed its identity from Greek to Brazilian, then to Dutch.

Following the Maxby's sinking, the raider laid mines off west Africa, met the nazi tanker Winnetou at sea for refueling and then proceeded to New Zealand where 230 mines were dropped, the captain said.

The contact with the planes was made after an all-night run from Jamaica. Despite the somewhat rough sea, the weather continued sunny and warm.

Secrecy still shrouded the Tuscaloosa's next destination.

Swine Erysipelas Worse Than Cholera

Animal Pathologist Speaks At County Farm Bureau Annual Banquet

Discussing swine disease at the annual banquet of the Lancaster County Farm Bureau at the chamber of commerce Saturday noon, Dr. S. W. Alford of the agricultural college declared that, since 1935, swine erysipelas has become a problem of greater economic importance than hog cholera.

The only means of control is through vaccination, he declared. Dr. Alford warned that the disease may be transmitted to humans and cautioned against infection, particularly in handling the culture and in post mortem work.

Miss Rachel Peterson, county home extension agent, led in community singing, and presented medals to four Lancaster county 4-H clubbers for their contributions and project accomplishments. The winners were Rose Ann Moon, home economics; Norma Clark, cooking; Arvid Wunderlich, meat animal; and Dorothy Johnson, girls room.

PAY PROBLEM FACES COAST

Campus Job Question Big Business of Pow-Wow In West Circles.

By JOHN D. HANLEY.

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7—(INS)—Regulation of compensation to football athletes for campus jobs will be the chief problem of the Pacific Coast conference bigwigs when they meet Monday at Del Monte in their annual post-season confab.

Maximum $40 Per Month.

The old rule of a maximum of 50 cents an hour was abandoned at the spring conference meeting at Sun Valley when the present rule, permitting a maximum of $40 a month for a minimum of 50 hours work, was adopted.

Since the spring meeting, several suggestions have been forwarded to Ed Atherton, football commissioner of the conference. Among the suggestions are these:

Football and basketball players should take turns in putting in extra hours at campus jobs, furnished through the school athletic fund. During football season when the gridiron heroes are practicing until late in the day, they should be permitted to work only a few hours but still receive their $40. Then, when football season is over and basketball is under way, the basketball stars should be permitted to work only a few hours while the football men are working longer at campus jobs.

Still another suggestion is that the rate of pay be increased. Atherton is in favor of this, pointing out that $40 a month is just about a minimum for a boy's living expenses.

Atherton expects no protest on his ruling which declared Johnny Petrovich, Alhambra high school football flash, and several other prep football players ineligible for football at certain conference schools.

Petrovich was headed for Southern California, but Atherton declared him ineligible for Trojan football because certain U. S. C. enthusiasts had enticed him to the Trojan campus. Atherton's ineligibility ruling in regard to the other players hit U. C. L. A. and California. In each instance Atherton made it clear that the individual boys were not to be blamed, but unfortunately were the indirect victims of the penalty.

Alumni Restless.

Although no protest of Atherton's ruling is expected, it was learned that a group of University of California alumni in the southern part of the state, where prep football talent grows almost like the famed oranges of that region, are seeking relaxation of the rule pertaining to entertainment of prep gridiron prospects.

As the rule now stands, alumni cannot make a practice of taking prep football prospects on a tour of their campus during, for instance, the Easter vacation, or any other time.

British Asked Show Balance Of Resources

Question Of Aid In War May Hinge On Answer: No Commitments Made By U. S. Officials

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—A series of blunt questions put by Secretary Morgenthau set Sir Frederick Phillips, undersecretary of the British treasury, to work at the British embassy today on a detailed accounting of his country's assets for waging war with Germany.

On the answers, which Phillips is expected to deliver to the United States treasury chief Monday, may depend the form and timing of any proposals for the United States to bulwark Britain's fight with American dollars.

While no officials here are on record with commitments for extension of loans or other financial aid to the British, it was generally accepted in both administrative and congressional circles that consideration of such assistance was the primary purpose of Phillips' visit.

"Balance Sheet."

Phillips, himself, said he was presenting "a balance sheet on the state of our resources and the cost of supplies in the United States."

In some quarters it was believed that if this "balance sheet" showed Britain to be in early need of financial aid strong efforts would be made in the opening months of the new congress to win acceptance of some specific proposal.

City Is Willing To Aid In Trying Out County Library Plan

. . . In Lancaster Co.

In the event the county commissioners should agree to join in establishing a WPA demonstration library service for people of the rural communities, the city library board is willing to cooperate in the activity, the members agreed at a special meeting Friday evening. Appointed as a committee to confer with the county board Monday were Mrs. Guy C. Chambers and T. M. Davies.

Endorsement in principle of a county library by the library board, followed an explanation of the plan by Nellie Carey, secretary of the state library commission, and Clara Johnson, state director of the WPA county library projects. Both will join the library board in the conference with the county commissioners, Monday.

Plan Described.

Under the plan proposed by the two speakers, the city would furnish a small number of books, and a room in which would also be housed 3,500 other volumes supplied by the WPA. The expense to the county would approximate $600 for the completion of a bookmobile, the chassis for which the WPA would supply.

Several plans of operation were suggested. In all of them the WPA would furnish the workers from certified relief rolls. Should the plan continue longer than the year of demonstration, the WPA would withdraw entirely after co-operating for a while.

Books would be supplied to the rural centers through the bookmobile making regularly scheduled trips to them. In some places small library centers could be set up if rooms were available.

Prize To Wilson Family At Annual Kiwanis Club Party

The Kiwanis club annual family party night was held Friday evening at the chamber of commerce, with more than 175 in attendance. Featured was the moving picture, "Middletown Family," showing the average American family visiting the New York World's fair.

Among the numerous prizes awarded was one to H. H. Wilson as the head of the largest family at the dinner. Three generations were in the group. A string trio gave several numbers, and Mrs. Sheldon Hallet gave a group of vocal solos. Rev. Paul Becker gave the invocation.

The entertainment was arranged by Clifford Hicks, and Dr. F. W. Albrecht, club president, presided.

O.E.S. Officers Dinner

The annual dinner for officers of Lincoln chapter No. 148, O. E. S., was held Friday night at the Lincoln hotel. Thirty-six attended. Especially honored were Mrs. Mabel Robinson, worthy matron; and Elmer E. Magee, worthy patron. Each received a gift.

Bargain In Furs

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Furs once valued at $250,000 by their owner, the late Lilyan Tashman, movie actress, brought $2,000 on the auction block yesterday. Highest item—a chinchilla cape insured for $50,000—went for $1,500.

Dies Erred In Statement On A Conference

. . . Says Atty. Gen. Jackson

WASHINGTON, Dec. 7—(AP)—Attorney General Jackson said last night that Rep. Dies (D.-Tex.) had made "erroneous" and "inaccurate" statements about a justice department conference which Dies did not attend.

Dies, who had gone to Chattanooga, Tenn., to make a speech, was apprised by his secretary of Jackson's assertion. Dies told the secretary he had made no such remarks as were described by the attorney general, and said he planned no reply.

Jackson's statement—handed to reporters without amplification—related to a conference Thursday between the attorney general and Rep. Voorhis (D.-Cal.), a member of the house committee on un-American activities, of which Dies is chairman. Jackson asserted Dies had issued an "announcement from Nashville, Tenn. referring to a formula" for cooperation between the department of justice and the Dies committee.

No Agreement.

"No agreement has been made," Jackson said in his statement, "that the federal bureau of investigation, naval or military intelligence services would be placed at the disposal of Congressman Dies. x x x

"Congressman Dies' erroneous description of a conference which he has left to others and concerning negotiations which are not completed is illustrative of the difficulties which he injects into our efforts to cooperate with his committee.

"When and if this department makes any commitment it will be in writing and its terms will be announced, and until then this department cannot allow itself to be committed by Congressman Dies' inaccurate statements."

After the Voorhis-Jackson conference, the attorney general announced the justice department would co-operate with the committee in exposing nazi and fascist mailed propaganda.

Flu Subsiding In California; Heading North

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 7—(AP)—The sweep of California's epidemic of mild influenza seemed to be levelling off today, but apparently the disease was affecting increasingly large numbers of persons in Washington state and Oregon.

A total of 666 new cases were reported yesterday in Los Angeles city and county, but health authorities there said the infection appeared to have reached its peak.

San Francisco yesterday reported 96 new cases, bringing the total to 597, but the city health department expressed no alarm.

Other California areas where the disease first appeared in epidemic proportion were past the peak. Some other communities said the number of cases was increasing.

Although several schools were closed in Washington and 1,900 of the 21,000 soldiers at Fort Lewis and Camp Murray were sick, the civilian and military health authorities there were not alarmed, and said there was no epidemic.

KEITH COUNTY MAY DEFER ACTION UPON DISTRICT CLERKSHIP

The attorney general's office ruled the Keith county board can wait until shortly before the 1942 election to determine whether the county's population is sufficient to entitle it to a separate office of clerk of the district court.

County Attorney Zelma Derry had inquired whether it was necessary for the board to appoint a district court clerk in view of the county's 1940 increase of population over the 8,000 mark.

She pointed out it is the consensus that the county's population will decrease below the required figure for a separate office within "the next year or so" after construction of the Kingsley dam is completed.

900 Find "Fortune Teller" To Be Grand Entertainment

. . . Wesleyan U. Opera On Again Tonight

Friday evening was filled with comedy for the 900 who witnessed the first of two performances of Victor Herbert's light opera, "The Fortune Teller," presented by the Nebraska Wesleyan university school of fine arts in the Wesleyan auditorium. There is scarcely a serious moment in this opera, and the 90 students who participated, under the able direction of Prof. Oscar Bennett, seemed to enjoy it as much as the audience.

Exceptionally fine acting and singing inspired curtain call after curtain call, with Director Bennett receiving an ovation for the final one.

The opera will be given again Saturday evening in the Lincoln high school auditorium.

Miss Brown Outstanding.

In the dual role of Irma, a ballet student, and Musette, the gypsy girl, Sarah Brown was an outstanding performer in both lines and vocals.

The antics and puns of Ross Mendell as Fresco, the mercenary ballet master, Ernest Metzger as the fortune seeking Count Berezowski, an alleged musician, and Lee McAllister as Boris, a gypsy with a Greek accent, contributed most to the fun.

"The Fortune Teller" contains some good tunes. One of these is "Slumber On, My Little Gypsy Sweetheart," which was pleasingly sung by Robert Gibb who played the part of Sandor, gypsy lover of Musette.

Adding to the comedy were Janet Currier who, as the prima donna, Mlle., Pompon, continually mixes her conversation with trills and cadenzas, and Glenn Druliner in the part of grumpy General Korbay. A commendable performance was also turned in by James Irwin as Captain Ladislas, Hungarian Hussar and sweetheart of Irma.

A troupe of ten dancers provided some of the most enjoyable scenes of the evening. They are Katherine Anderson, Marguerite Carter, Jean Eichberg, Jean Flaherty, Dorothy Freeborn, Lenor Haney, Betty Jo Jackson, Jacqueline Nagel, Ruth Nielsen, and Mona Van Camp.

Accompaniment was furnished by a 23 piece orchestra. The cast (in order of appearance):

West's Lumber Industry Hard Hit By Strikes

Washington Labor Strife Threatens Spread To Oregon Mills

SEATTLE, Dec. 7—(AP)—More than 40 lumber operations in western Washington were closed today by labor strife in an industry deemed important in national defense expansion, and its spread into Oregon was threatened.

Ten plants were closed in Seattle yesterday, while the nineteenth closure at Tacoma brought complete paralysis to that lumber capital's sawmill operations. Six mills were closed at Everett, one each at two smaller communities, and five logging operations were listed as closed. Nearly 12,000 workers are involved.

The AFL Lumber and Sawmill Workers' union effected the closures in its demand for a pay increase from a minimum of 62½ cents hourly to 70 cents, and a week's vacation with pay.

The Seattle mills were closed without the employes striking. They refused to pass picket lines set up by union members from Everett and Tacoma, who contended the Seattle mills were getting business that would be going to the other plants if they were not struck.

The big Seattle local of the AFL union recently signed a contract for a five cent an hour wage increase. It was criticized by the other members of the Puget Sound council for not sticking to the 7½ cent increase demand.

Union spokesman, in announcing the turning of their guns on Seattle, said Oregon would be next. Operators offered a 5-cent increase at Portland.

PHALANX ENTERTAINS AT PRE-BALL DINNER

Twenty-nine couples attended a pre-military ball dinner Friday evening in the Capital hotel given by Phalanx, honorary military fraternity of the university. Lieut. Robert E. Johnson, faculty sponsor, was present, and Cadet Capt. Jack Burns, commander, was in charge.

Hi-Y Conference On At Hastings

With 18 boys and three leaders representing Lancaster county, the state Hi-Y conference is holding group discussions Saturday at its three-day conclave in Hastings. Dr. E. A. Roadman, president of Morningside college, spoke Friday night.

Topics of the discussion groups include: United States religion, led by Rev. S. G. Kessler, of Hastings; democracy in the high schools, Harold Sickman, of Hastings; preparation for a vocation, William C. Jacques, of Hastings; friendship, Miss Lotta Jo Oliver, of Hastings; and international trends of 1940, Prof. David Dykstra, of Hastings college.

Hi-Y leaders attending the conference from Lancaster county are J. D. Worley, of Waverly, Artemas Brown and Alden Eberly, of Lincoln.

Arrangements in Hastings are being made by a committee of Hi-Y workers and M. H. Tofsted, general secretary of the Hastings Y. M. C. A. and formerly a staff member of the Lincoln Y. M. C. A. Ray Nesmith, council member of the west central area of Y. M. C. A., is directing the program.

The principal speaker at the banquet Saturday night will be Dr. John Creighton, president of Hastings college. Dr. Roadman will be the final speaker Sunday morning.

MOTHER KILLS SELF AFTER SHOOTING 3 CHILDREN AT HOME

DAYTON, O., Dec. 7—(AP)—Preble county authorities today dismissed as triple homicide and suicide the deaths of three small children and their 28-year-old mother.

The bodies, each shot through the heart, were found in separate beds in their farm home west of here. Beside the mother, Mrs. Dorothy Alice Crouse, lay a .22 caliber target pistol and at the head of her bed was pinned a penciled note, "I cannot stay here longer."

The slain children were Curtis Neal, 3; Gene Everett, 4; and Viola Ann, 6.

Everett Crouse, husband and father of the victims, was at work in Middletown when notified of the tragedy. He said his wife had been in ill health and underwent a serious operation two months ago.

Students On Strike Against Dismissal Louisiana Teachers

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 7—(AP)—State Superintendent of Education John E. Coxe today backed the demands of 225 Jefferson parish high school students on strike over dismissal of five teachers in what the parish school board described as a necessary retrenchment.

The students went on strike yesterday, parading with placards inscribed with such slogans as "we can't learn without Mr. Kern," "we will be in a daze without Miss Hayes," and "the band will be in a ramble without our Mr. Campbell."

Another sign read, "fire all crooked politicians, let honest teachers work."

A delegation of striking students and their parents called on Coxe here and were assured the teachers would be reinstated. The state school superintendent told the delegation that state funds for the parish, adjacent to New Orleans, would be withheld until such action was taken.

Paul McKee, Y.M.C.A. Man Who Helped Plan Camp Sheldon, Dies

OMAHA, Dec. 7—(AP)—Paul H. McKee, 53, former state boys' work secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in Nebraska, died Thursday at Wausa, Wis., on his 53rd birthday, according to word reaching here. He had been ill several months.

Camp Sheldon at Columbus and the state Hi-Y movements were launched under McKee's direction. He had served as general Y. M. C. A. secretary at Wausa for 12 years.

His widow, a son, his mother, a sister and a brother survive.

A Man Who Didn't Back-Track . . .

Edgar Howard, Nebraska's Colorful Figure, Receives High Praise From State Leaders at Anniversary Dinner

COLUMBUS, Neb., Dec. 7—(AP)—Among the treasured memories of former Congressman Edgar Howard are tributes from many Nebraska notables who hailed his 40 years' service as editor at a testimonial banquet here Friday night.

Senator George W. Norris lauded the Columbus Telegram editor as a man who "from my viewpoint of life was always right."

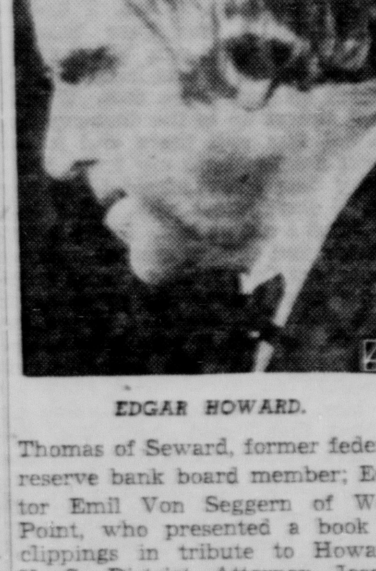

"If we had a world of Edgar Howards," the McCook senator said, "we could get rid of policemen and the whole set of lawyers."

Former Governor John H. Morehead of Falls City acclaimed Howard as the first congressmen ever to "clean up" Vice President John N. Garner in a poker game and added that Howard was influential in obtaining the democratic presidential nomination for Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1932.

"One of the best-loved men in congress" was former Governor Charles W. Bryan's description. He said he had never known Howard "to be wrong on a public question."

"He never back-tracked," asserted former Governor Arthur J. Weaver of Falls City, who paid tribute to Howard's long fight for agricultural and irrigation interests.

Other speakers included J. J.

EDGAR HOWARD.

Thomas of Seward, former federal reserve bank board member; Editor Emil Von Seggern of West Point, who presented a book of clippings in tribute to Howard; U. S. District Attorney Joseph Votava of Omaha; District Judge Willis G. Sears of Omaha, and Z. H. Loomis, managing editor of The Telegram, who served as toastmaster.

KNUDSEN ASKS SPEED UP ON WAR MATERIAL

. . . To Keep U.S. At Peace

DETROIT, Dec. 7—(AP)—Accelerated production of defense materials as insurance against American involvement in war is being asked of the nation's industrialists by National Defense Coordinator William S. Knudsen.

Before a group of Detroit manufacturers, among them the presidents of three automotive companies and the production chief of another, Knudsen last night urged "speed and more speed" in filling defense orders.

"I'm no worrier," he told a dinner of the Adcraft club of Detroit, "but I feel that if we can improve our setup, quantity and delivery of defense items, it would be the best insurance to keep us out of war.

"The more prepared we are, the less liable to attack. It is our duty to show the world that we are all that we claim we are."

His listeners included M. M. Gilman, president of the Packard Motor Car Co.; K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler Corp.; C. E. Wilson, acting president of General Motors Corp., and Charles E. Sorenson, Ford Motor Co., production chief.

4 SAVED AS STORM BATTERS TUG OFF COAST OF OREGON

ASTORIA, Ore., Dec. 7—(AP)—The four survivors of the ill-fated tug Tyee, which was wrecked yesterday in a stormy sea off Tillamook bar, lay in a hospital here today, bruised and exhausted but not seriously injured.

Close watch was kept on Oregon's rugged coast for the bodies of two of the tug's crew who perished three hours before the coastguard cutter Onondaga came to the rescue.

The survivors were Capt. Hillary Hubble, Chief Engineer Neil Logue, Assistant Engineer George Thorburg and Mate Evan Campbell, all of Hoquiam, Wash.

The survivors told the coastguard that Deckhand John Henderson and Cook Julius Long, also of Hoquiam, became exhausted after nearly three hours and drowned.

The men were picked up by the Onondaga as they drifted helplessly in a 15-foot work boat about six miles north of where the Tyee went down. The small boat was awash when sighted by the cutter.

The four survivors said the small boat was capsized several times by towering breakers tossing the craft crazily about. The boat was kept afloat by its air tanks.

Crashes Parking

Residents in the vicinity of Nineteenth and A streets, awakened about 2:30 o'clock Saturday morning by a crash, saw a motorist speedily backing his car from the center parking and leaving the scene. Daylight showed well-defined tire tracks and a small tree partially uprooted as the only remaining evidence.

MANY MORE LINCOLNITES PAID $1 AND $2 BILLS

Hormel Men and Girls All Over Town—High School Visited Yesterday

BY THE HORMEL MAN

Yes indeed, folks, we are still here continuing our pleasant task of paying you Lincolnites those brand new dollar bills with which so many of you are now familiar. A can of SPAM and a can of HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE on your shelf, or the key and metal strip from an opened can of SPAM and a CHILI label—that's all you need as evidence that you use these time-saving Hormel products and are therefore qualified to express your opinions. Each opinion, you know, is worth a $1 bill, and if you are prepared to tell us why you use BOTH SPAM and HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE, then we gladly pay you two crisp new dollar bills.

Carry this proof with you at all times and have each member of the family supplied too. We cover homes, shops, stores, apartments, factories, high schools, and offices as well as the people on the streets. You never know when YOU or some member of your family will be approached by one of the Hormel representatives. Have that SPAM key and CHILI label ready for that unexpected contact. One of us will stop you when you least expect it. Be Prepared!

Salvation Army Worker Paid.

MRS. BERTHA WENCIKER, 642 So. Tenth Street, who was working at one of the Salvation Army Christmas kettles, had her SPAM key and CHILI label with her. She was paid two crisp $1 bills for her opinions of these tasty Hormel products.

The Hormel representative brought an attractive smile to the face of ELEANOR TURNER, 1143 G Street, when he approached her with his usual query — Do you use SPAM and HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE in your home? Her proof and opinions were ready. "SPAM fried with eggs is my favorite" and "HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE is best of all canned chilis" were the statements which paid her two brand new $1 bills. Now she is known where she works as "Smiling Miss Turner."

When one of the Hormel Men identified himself to MRS. AGNES VAN LIEW, 1464 Rose Street, she promptly produced her evidence of using the two handy Hormel products. She was paid $2 for the following statements: "My boy carries his lunch and he certainly is fond of SPAM-wiches" and "My family likes HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE for a quick meal in the evenings."

Dentist Approached.

The lions may be the king of the jungle, but the roar of the Lions of Lincoln was one of unpreparedness. One of the Hormel Men dropped in on the weekly meeting of the Lions Club yesterday and all of these on-the-alert business men were napping with the exception of the president of the club, DR. C. A. BUMSTEAD, 2948 Wendover, who had his SPAM key and CHILI label on hand. He received $2 for his opinions of these two Hormel products.

Yesterday afternoon some of the Hormel people greeted the Lincoln High school students just to see if they were on their toes. LEONARD E. SMITH, 1940 So. Sixteenth Street; BOB SIMMONS, 927 No. Thirtieth Street; and TOM HALL, 321 So. Forty-eighth Street, were all doubly-prepared with opinions and evidence. They each received $2 for their statements of SPAM and HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE. We hope that the next time some of us are out to the high school there are many more of you ready to give your opinions of these two delicious Hormel products.

More $2 Paid.

Every day the number increases of those persons who would rather have two $1 bills than a single dollar bill. This is a partial list of those people who were prepared with the key and metal strip from an opened can of SPAM and the label from a can of HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE: MRS. C. H. FOSTER, 2842 No. Fifty-fourth Street; WIN HALE, 1112 Washington Street; CLARA M. KOOP, 1118 So. Twelfth Street; MRS. J. W. EASH, 3167 R Street; MRS. ALBERT BAUER, 3033 So. Thirteenth Street; MRS. R. BLACKETER, 3714 So. Fourteenth Street; GRACE VAN DYKE, 854 So. Thirtieth Street; MRS. H. W. DEEMS, 3239 S Street; ROBERT CARLSON, 875 So. Thirty-fifth Street; MRS. ED VESCELIUS, 3700 So. Fourteenth Street; MRS. R. A. SHINDEL, 936 So. Thirtieth Street; MRS. NEIL W. SHEPHERD, 1208 G Street; MRS. MABEL WEAVER, 3408 Sheridan Boulevard; MRS. GUY H. VEHRS, 216 No. Twenty-fifth Street; MRS. QUIS JONES, 1319 E Street; MRS. R. A. WITTSTRUCK, 3139 P Street; MRS. R. M. COLE, 136 No. Thirtieth Street; MRS. A. ROHRIG, 205 No. Thirty-first Street.

Still Paying Some Singles.

With countless people saying, "That is the easiest two dollars I have ever earned!" we still find lots of the people prepared on only one or the other of these tasty Hormel products. We Hormel representatives are glad to pay you people a single $1 for your opinion, but we are tickled to death to pay you $2 for your double statements. Here is a partial list of those persons receiving a $1 bill: MRS. GEORGE EBRLE, 3062 U Street; MRS. L. B. McPHERSON, 901 Elmwood; MRS. A. WILLIAMS, 1316 So. Fourteenth Street; MRS. W. E. HERBERT, 1327 B Street; MRS. E. L. WRIGHT, 1210 D Street; NORMAN L. CROUNSE, 2404 N Street, whose aunt was paid the other day; MRS. V. T. ANDERSON, 1328 K Street; MRS. G. L. HEWIT, 907 Fifth Street; MRS. MARY SLUKA, 1125 D Street; MRS. JACK NEVILLE, 1341 E Street; MRS. T. W. VAN ANDEL, 1045 So. Thirteenth Street; MRS. H. D. IMLAY, 3012 P Street; MRS. H. J. KLAINE, 1032 Charleston; DOROTHY WILKINSON, 1421 L Street; MRS. E. MOSHER, 2853 Washington Street.

All of these people mentioned above might just as well have had two $1 bills had they been prepared on both products.

So you see, folks, we are paying more and more of you brand new dollar bills for your opinions of the two Hormel aristocrats—SPAM, the Miracle Meat of 101 uses, and taste-thrilling HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE. If you haven't been stopped by one of us yet be patient. We're going to be around for some time yet and you never know when or where one of us will meet you.

Remember, many of the above people had been carrying their SPAM keys and CHILI labels for days before being stopped and asked how they liked SPAM and HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE. Be sure to carry the key with the metal strip wound around it from the SPAM can and the label from HORMEL CHILI CON CARNE. We may meet you tomorrow and want to pay you two dollars for your opinions of both products, so BE PREPARED!—Adv.

One Valid Reason

IN THE pre-legislative discussion of the proposal for the establishment of the state comptroller in Nebraska the one argument upon which its advocates fall back the most frequently is the official is needed to check monthly to see that at no time spending agencies are going beyond appropriations raising the danger of a deficit at the end of a biennium for which provision must be made by the legislature in the form of an additional appropriation.

It's a peach of an argument, so plausible and so sane when clothed in the robes of economy, providing the one listening to it does not think.

There already is a law on the statute books in this state making it unlawful and fixing penalties for any spending agency or any public official to exceed the appropriation provided for the agency. There is an attorney-general supposed to enforce that provision, and he would enforce it if the occasion arose.

He hasn't acted under it for the good and valid reason there has been no occasion for him to proceed under it. What agency of government has exceeded its appropriation made for its maintenance and support during a biennium? Have the constitutional officers—the Supreme court, the governor, the attorney general, the secretary of state, the state auditor, the treasurer, or the railway commissioner? Has the highway department, the board of control, in charge of all state institutions, the normal board, or the university board of regents? Each and every one of them has stayed within its appropriations.

But the interest in a comptroller as an economy move means there will be a salary to pay for the comptroller, clerical and stenographic help for the comptroller, equipment for the office, supplies for the office, and office space. The legislature should give real study before it creates new agencies of government.

County Home Rule

THE Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers league has asked the legislature to resubmit its proposal in the form of a constitutional amendment giving to counties home rule. It was a casualty in the November unpleasantness.

Its sponsors have no one to blame except themselves. They put it upon a ballot in an exceedingly confusing and embittered presidential campaign, when the opportunity to give thought and study to the home rule proposal was a forlorn hope. There isn't any good reason why that proposal should not be adopted. It simply gives to the taxpayers of Nebraska's 93 counties the right to say under what form of county government they care to live, and how elaborate or how inexpensive they desire county government to be. It's a good proposal. It should have been approved.

But if it is again to find a place on the ballot the Nebraska Federation of County Taxpayers league should see that the question comes before the people in a state rather than in the presidential election year.

American Personal Security

INSURANCE in force on American lives has passed the 177-billion-dollar mark and stands at the highest point in history, according to the Association of Life Insurance Presidents.

Moreover the year's gain in policies is three and a half billion dollars or three per cent greater than in 1939. To those who will take the time to reflect upon it this trend should be a significant index to the American way of life.

It is not difficult to recall some of the arguments used against the New Deal's social security program of retirement pensions, old age aid and unemployment compensation when it was launched a few years ago. It will mean the beginning of the end for American insurance companies, those prophets of gloom declared.

But it just wasn't so. One of the effects of the government's social security program has been to cause hundreds of thousands of Americans to give serious thought to the economic pattern of their personal futures. It has given so many people a new and finer sense of values. The government program was properly designed along minimum lines. The net effect of it has been to impress upon many persons the desirability of providing supplementary income for old age through private insurance policies.

Long Into the Night

THIS argument whether Nebraska should or should not have been invited to play in the Rose Bowl has all the possibilities of that familiar cartoon based on the argument which extended far into the night.

But the Huskers are going to play in the bowl, and that's that. It promises to be a trifle tough upon people's nerves, particularly those who were in a receptive mood but did not get an invitation.

BY WAY OF SURPRISE

THOSE fires lighted in the recent presidential election continue to burn as brightly as ever. A contemporary printed this letter from a reader:

"The New Deal has broken almost every tradition of our ancestors from Thanksgiving to the Supreme court. The electoral college traditionally votes for the man with the largest vote but there is neither legislative nor constitutional provision requiring that its members vote for anyone. This is an opportunity for a patriotic electoral college to follow new deal practice and smash tradition by voting for any one of 10 thousand capable patriots—and let the president go fishing. Why vote for a visionary, erratic profligate spendthrift when there are sane men like Gardner, Knox, Farley, Burke, Vandenberg, Willkie, and a host of others they could vote for, with no penalty attached?"

Rubbing the eyes, the only answer to that is: "Is this America?"

The author is an old, respected and sincere pioneer citizen of this state. He has lived an enviable life. The amazing thing is that in his meditation—his post-election meditation—of the expressed will of the American people he could speak of a "patriotic" electoral college which would repudiate its public pledge and nullify the deliberate choice of the American people.

No penalty attached—except the scorn, contempt, and indignation of every man and woman who believes in a free and open election, and in the democratic processes of government. This was a free and open election. Never has the American voter had the chance to hear all sides in careful debate. Never has he had a better opportunity to express deliberate, considered, and thoughtful judgment. It was not Mr. Roosevelt who raised the chief din. It was the opposition to him. His opposition, plentifully supplied with money, more money than ever was spent in any other American election, estimated by Chairman Gillette of the senate election committee to be in excess of 20 millions, constantly carried the fight, and was eternally active. It was repudiated, rejected, in such decisive fashion both in the electoral college, and in the popular vote as to leave no room for question where the majority of the American people stood.

IT HAS been said a half million votes, properly distributed, would have elected Wendell Willkie. That statement is misleading. It implies that a half a million who voted for Roosevelt in switching and voting for Willkie actually represents not only one vote but two votes. A half a million who voted for Roosevelt, not voting at all, still would have left Mr. Willkie far short of his goal.

And on the same basis employed by these idle mathematicians, a mere 325 thousand would have given Roosevelt every state in the union. Only 35 hundred needed to switch in Maine—8 thousand in Michigan and 7 thousand in Indiana, and a handful in the Dakotas and Iowa. It would have taken but slightly more than 40 thousand in Nebraska and 60 thousand in Kansas.

What profit is there in this embittered and idiotic fight by the die-hards who cast shame upon the popular elections under which democracy functions? We still live under majority rule in this country. We still value the franchise, the uncontrolled, undictated election. And we have a job ahead, a job made doubly difficult by the refusal of people who profess to believe in democracy to accept in good spirit the results of democracy.

An intelligent, loyal opposition, the voice of the minority is to be respected and encouraged at all times. But subtly day after day the American press seeks to convey the impression it is Roosevelt who is dividing the American people; Roosevelt who is responsible for the lack of unity and solidarity. On the basis of public performance, and both public and private utterance, it is not Roosevelt who is responsible for the lack of unity in this country but the disgruntled, disrespectful, dissatisfied "die-hards" who speak of the president in appalling fashion, and who profess to believe in democracy but would substitute rule by minority for rule by majority. If we are going to progress in this country we are going to develop a more intelligent loyal opposition than has made its appearance on the street corners and in the columns of the American press.

Out On Its Own

STORY of the week was the one coming out of New Orleans relating that a tender hearted St. Louis woman, who last year found a robin with broken legs, took the bird into her home, had the injury set, and nursed the little feathered creature until it was well again.

They became great friends.

Then the law stepped in to notify the woman the bird had to be turned loose. So she and the bird flew to New Orleans and its warmth to give robin redbreast the most favorable opportunity to launch forth in a cruel world on its own.

Not much to the episode, and yet volumes in this hysterical atmosphere of today. Which reminds Nebraskans that cold and snow is just ahead in the immediate months and the little feathered folk will need to be remembered.

Homeward Bound

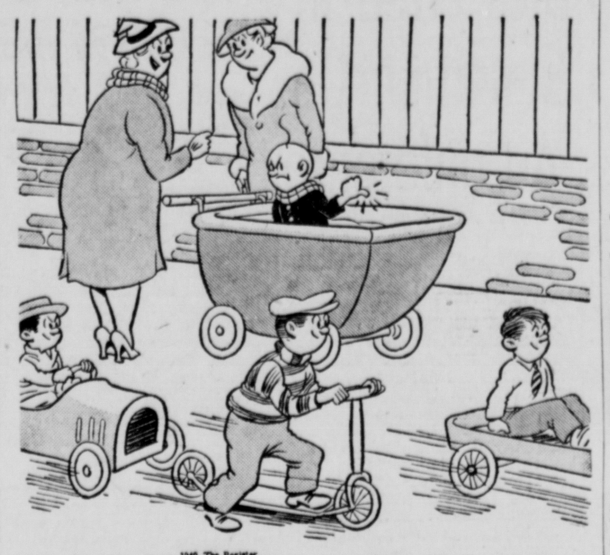

THIS third expedition under the leadership of Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd, which has been engaged in exploring the Antarctic for more than a year, has been carrying on so quietly that the results will not be known until its return.

In the beginning it was announced the expedition would devote more of its energies to research than to discovery. The value of that research, inasmuch as the financing of the expedition was borne by the Federal treasury, may be open to controversy. Congress has slapped down the lid, appropriately, it would appear in the face of more pressing needs, and as a result the members of Byrd's party will be back home by next March.

Antarctica, much more so than the Arctic region, remains much the mystery that it has been, not that its isolation is important, or that careful scientific studies will prove of practical value. For the time being the American people, together with the rest of the world, have passed by Arctic exploration.

DIET AND HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D., Author of "The Human Body"

BOOK OUTLINES DEVELOPMENT OF THE YOUTH INTO MANHOOD

A wholesome tone pervades the little book A Boy Grows Up, by Harry C. McKown and Marion LeBron (published by Whittlesey House, New York). It is a companion volume to A Girl Grows Up, by Ruth Fedder, which I have had occasion to recommend to my readers several times.

Boys in the teen ages, which is the period with which this book deals, are quite as shy as girls, even those who put on a false front of being tough, and many suffer agonies during this period of adjustment.

Adjustment, as the authors very sensibly assume, means first adjustment to yourself—and in the teen age every year is different; then adjustment to your family; then to your neighbors; and then to teachers, fellow-students or workers, and the world at large.

Getting off on the right foot in this adventure of growing from boy to man consists, first, of living fully and successfully the life of a boy and then of moving straight ahead, step by step, from boy associations and activities to those of a man's world. If, as a boy, you can learn to get along with all kinds of people, fit yourself into groups of various sizes and purposes and acquire a clear picture of life around you, you have the surest possible start to moving successfully into the more complicated life of a man.

Mental And Physical Health.

In the process, consideration must be made for both mental health and physical health, and the authors of this manual pay attention to both. Under mental health, hobbies and work are stressed as methods of learning your place in the world and your relation to your environment. Several pages are devoted to lists of recent books on skills, hobbies and special interests. These include camping and woodcraft; knots, ties and splices; shelters and shanties; building things; stamps and coins; cooking and candy making; camp grub; dramatics; drawing, sketching; magic, card tricks, stunts, ventriloquism; gardening; handcrafts of all kinds—such as woodwork, miniature ship building, tin craft; beaten metal work, fun with boxes, tin can craft, Indian craft, plywood, leatherwork, whittling, model airplanes; music; photography; radio and other electrical work; raising pets; science—astronomy, geology, pond life, botany, insects, chemistry, aquariums, birds, turtles, minerals; sports — horseback riding, canoeing, and newspaper writing (which I may say in conclusion I am surprised to find is a hobby). Quite a list. There must be something of interest to everyone.

Under physical health a good section is devoted to food for the growing boy, emphasizing his need for plenty of it. "Many a high school boy would like to eat six meals a day. If he is skinny or excitable, it may be the best thing he can do." Menus and "foods that you can prepare yourself" are described. Work, exercise, sleep, recreation and the new maturity are topics that are discussed in a sensible way.

QUESTION.

"At what age is the menopause usually fully completed?"

ANSWER.

There is a wide variation in different women for onset and completion of the menopause. In American women of former generations it occurred at an earlier age than at present. Healthy women of today usually do not enter the menopause until the forty-sixth to forty-seventh year. In a considerable percentage not until the fiftieth year. The duration is from six months to three years.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Why Madam Three-Legs Moved

When faith in home is truly lost
Then move away at any cost.
—Old Mother Nature.

One must have faith in the security of the home or it no longer is worth being called a home. The thing to do then is to find another home and lose no time in moving. This is just what Madam Three-legs, the crippled Skunk, told Mother Coon, crippled in like manner, that she did. It was in Aunt Sally's Woodhouse Night club where they had met for the first time. They were gossiping while Mother Coon's four children were stuffing themselves with goodies provided by Aunt Sally, their hostess.

"You said that you twisted your foot off and at last were free from the dreadful thing that had grabbed and held you right there in the entrance to your own home. What did you do then?" asked Mother Coon.

"I went back down to my bed. What else could I do?" replied Madam Three-legs.

"I was glad enough to get there I can tell you. That leg ached dreadfully," she added.

"Don't I know it!" exclaimed Mother Coon, remembering her own suffering.

"I guess that nobody can know what it was like unless having been through something like it," continued Madam Three-Legs. "There was a while I didn't care about anything. I just lay there. I didn't have anything to eat for the longest time. But I didn't want anything to eat. I had no appetite. It was days before I even tried to go out. When at last I had to eat it was hard work to walk on just three feet. When I got almost up to the doorway that thing was still there and it was still holding onto my foot. For a long time I was afraid to go past it. I don't know why, but I was.

"But I did at last. I was pretty weak, and getting around on three legs was slow work. I don't know now how I ever got anything to eat that first night. I didn't get much. In fact it was days before I was able to get a really full meal."

Mrs. Coon nodded. "I know all about that," said she. "Did you forget sometimes and try to use the foot that you had lost?"

"You do know!" exclaimed Madam Three-legs. "So you know how at first it hurt when I did that. And I felt so awkward. I was awkward. More than one Mouse escaped because I couldn't pounce on him with just one paw. But I can now," she added proudly.

"We never know what we can do until we have to try," said Mrs. Coon. "Did you keep on living in that same house?"

"I remember an old deserted house not too far away, and I went over there

Madam Three-legs shook her head. "I went back there, but I just couldn't go in. I couldn't go past that thing holding my foot. Somehow I was afraid of it. Two or three times I started to enter and then backed out."

"What did you do?" Mrs. Coon wanted to know.

"I remembered an old deserted house not too far away and I went over there," was the reply. "It hadn't been used for a long time and the entrance was partly filled with sand and dead leaves. But I managed to get in. Inside it wasn't bad at all. So I decided to stay there. I cleaned out the entrance as best I could, but with only one paw to use it wasn't easy. No, sir, it wasn't easy. I had to do it a little at a time."

"And are you still living there?" asked Mrs. Coon.

Madam Three-legs admitted that she was. "There isn't any other place for me to stay," said she. "With but one paw I can't dig a new house. I've learned to do a lot of things, but digging a new house isn't one of them. After all I sometimes think that old houses are best. In the middle of the summer I happened over near my old home and peeped into it. That thing was still there and it was still holding on to what was left of my poor foot."

Poor Madam Three-legs! Yet lucky Madam Three-legs. Had she not twisted off that foot, dreadful as that was, she would have been held a prisoner there in the doorway of her own home until she starved to death. Evidently the trapper had forgotten or neglected to visit that trap. It happens more often than it is pleasant to think of.

JUST FOLKS

By Edgar A. Guest

PLEA FOR CHARACTER.

Grant me this, dear Lord, to be
Strong for tasks which fall to me;
Kind, when hunger finds my door,
Brave for all that lies before;
Grateful for Thy gifts bestowed,
Patient, when my pace is slowed;
Willing, when I can, to share
Burdens grim which others bear;
Gracious, when a touch of grace
May exalt the commonplace;
Gentle always when distress
May be soothed by gentleness;
Faithful always unto Thee,
And the cause of liberty.

Calling All Dogs

By ALBERT PAYSON TERHUNE

BOMB-PROOFS FOR DOGS.

The British take their dogs more seriously than do we. When the "Battle of Britain" was imminent, all kinds of devices were put on the market for their protection during air raids, etc. The government itself took part in the precautions against canine slaughter.

In Kensington Gardens, in London, the National Canine Defense league erected a bombproof shelter to which dogs could be rushed in case of raids. This first shelter was built to accommodate only thirty-six occupants. I don't know whether these were chosen in advance or if it was a case of "first come first served."

The governmental Office of Works approved the plan; and labor was begun at once on more and larger shelters of the same kind. The Kensington shelter was announced as "blast-and-splinter-proof." Already there were bomb-and-gas-proof crates into which Fido could huddle in case of danger. And there were luminous leashes and blankets for the use of dogs during blackouts.

Some day, when more important matters have been described in full, the history of Britain's dogs, during the war, will be written. It will be splendidly exciting reading, too. I wish I had the skill to write it.

THE ROAD TO SHANI LUN

by Rita Mohler Hanson

YESTERDAY: Lynn Britton has been conducted by Temu Darin, against her will, across China and Mongolia almost to the city of the Prince of Shani Lun. Lynn is to marry the Prince, Temu insists; she had rather marry Temu. Lynn's camel has run away, and she is waiting with Temu for a Mongolian peasant to come up with horses so she and Temu can buy them to finish the long journey to Shani Lun.

Chapter 32.
BATTLE OF LOVE.

When Lynn woke in the morning, she saw Temu standing tall and straight on a hilltop scanning the horizon through field-glasses. She watched him with brooding eyes, a faint flush on her cheeks. Presently she turned and looked at the camel; the beast had died sometime during the night.

"Temu's friend," Lynn thought. She rose, staring at the eastern horizon warmed with promise of the rising sun.

Temu returned and stood at her shoulder. A tremor went through Lynn. "What happens when we die?" she asked.

"According to Sherdock, nothing happens, Tara Lynn, any more than when you turn a page in a book you are reading."

Lynn thought a minute. "I don't believe I'm the emanation of a goddess after all. I'm too stupid about these things of the spirit. I scheme around to find the three-dimensional explanations for everything. The last few days I've been thinking about the little missionary boy that became your Prince. Why, at the age of six he would have spoken English well if he were an average child."

Temu smiled. "I'm quite confident he wasn't subnormal."

Lynn refused to be deflected from her purpose. "Surely, missionary parents would not have taught their son the Buddhist mantra."

"Go on," he urged.

"He must have used English words. He must have said. 'O man, please take me home.' And Sherdock heard the mantra because he expected to hear it, wished to hear it. Do you know what the Prince thinks of the incident?"

"He was pretty young when it happened and under the handicap of orphanhood and starvation; he knows only that the words he must have said worked—worked to change him from an outcast into a Prince. And does your explanation lessen any of the mystery of the forces that brought Sherdock and the boy together?"

"I suppose not," she acknowledged slowly. She glanced up. "Why is the Prince content to stay here instead of returning home?"

"He did think once he would live in America. He tried it. He found no near relatives, no special work he wanted to do. The old Prince and Sherdock were begging him to come back and take up the responsibilities that belonged to him. He came."

"And became, as Dick says, a typical, native ruler sunk in vice and crime."

Temu looked up at the ridge which concealed the rising sun before he spoke. "Has it occurred to you that you might reform the man?"

She could not tell if there were irony in his voice or not. Nevertheless, her eyes blazed; she clenched her hands. "I could hate you for that, Temu Darlin! Why sacrifice me to your degenerate Prince?"

"I do not consider it sacrifice. It is your destiny. He needs you."

"I do not need him."

"Oh, yes, you do, Lynn dear. You need someone to think of besides yourself. You are a rather self-centered and wilful girl at present . . ."

Brief Quarrel.

"Since we're speaking home truths, Temu, you are a fanatic."

"That may be," he agreed.

"Then you think it is wrong for me to lead my own life?"

"I think that if you or I or any one will follow the pattern laid down for us, happiness will come. But let's not quarrel about it. The Prince is not as bad as your brother has painted him nor as deserving of good fortune perhaps as Sherdock thinks he is. Sherdock was pleased that the boy took after his father, a dark-skinned Scotchman, and grew up to resemble the people he lived among as happily married couples grow to look alike. The Prince finally decided that his childhood here had spoiled him for any other country."

"There is a sort of enchantment," Lynn agreed, breathing in the heady, mountain atmosphere. "But to stand it, one must believe with Sherdock that nothing matters much except the inner values."

Temu laughed. "Speaking of inner values, how about breakfast?" He proceeded skillfully to build a fire and brew their morning tea.

"Beyond this rise before us is a wide plateau," he said, "and I see a single yurta. Perhaps I can buy horses there. Do you wish to try the walk with me or to wait here until I return for you?"

"I'll go with you," she said.

He searched her face with its clear, unlined beauty. "You seem to stand up well under hardships."

"I'm a fiend for punishment," she acknowledged.

He brought the tea in the birch-wood bowls and sat down on the rug beside her.

"Are you unhappy?" he asked.

"I don't know." She looked up at him. "You enrage me dreadfully but I can't stay angry long. Just now I'm in a funny state of mind, reckless, abandoned. Have you ever associated with such a woman before?"

He smiled a little. "Not in these circumstances."

"I don't care what happens to us just so I stay with you."

He gave her a sidelong glance. "That is encouraging."

"I think you are a remarkable person. I cannot understand why Sherdock should go into the Koko Nor country looking for prince material and pick out a missionary's son when he had you at home."

Temu broke into quick laughter. "Lynn, you're the joy of my life."

She bent towards him. "Are you really incorruptible?"

He took her wrists and bade her, "Look into my eyes and tell me what you see."

She obeyed and presently nodded. "I suppose that's one of the reasons I admire you so much. Am I no temptation at all to you?"

"O Tara Lynn!" he groaned, and jumped to his feet. He set about packing the things they would carry with them. "We must be going," he said.

The tramp to the yurta was a long and tiring journey to people shod in Mongol boots. It was afternoon before they reached the spot. The tent housed a large family for Mongolia; a husband, a wife, and four children.

The man could spare none of the houses about the camp. But he sent his eldest son to bring in a pair of ponies from a herd in a lower valley. The boy could not return until the following morning.

Strange Evening.

At Temu's insistence, Lynn lay down and rested a bit on a pile of furs inside the yurta, while he helped the family beat sheep's wool into felt on a level piece of sod near the well.

At dusk, along with a snow storm, a traveling lama arrived. He had come to perform religious offices for the well-being of the family and for a bounteous increase to their flocks. When they all crowded into the yurta Temu came and sat down beside Lynn.

"It's lucky you had some sleep this afternoon," he said. "There won't be much repose tonight with the lama here."

After the meal of cheese and tea and boiled mutton, the party reclined about the fire cage on furs and red cushions while they told stories and sang songs. The man of the family played a flute in a strange minor key, and passed Temu a stringed instrument something like a crude violin. Lynn sat listening to the rollicking lilt of "There is a Tavern in the Town." and hardly knew whether or not she was dreaming.

Outside the snow fell softly in fine crystals. Within, lights from the butter lamps flickered on the altar images. The glow from the stove gave a rosy shine to the dark, grease-grimed faces of the natives, and picked out the birch framework of the walls of the tent in lines of black where it laced the white felt of the yurta. Native wine was passed around the circle in honor of the visitors.

The smallest child in the tent, a little girl with gray eyes and light hair, that showed a tendency to curl despite the grease and soil that had accumulated during her few years of life, nodded sleepily against her mother.

"Do you suppose this man is her father?" Lynn asked Temu.

He said unexpectedly, "We'll find out." He turned and spoke to the man who made a laughing answer, waving his hands as he talked.

"He says he doesn't know, but she was caught in his herd. She may grow up to be a forceful woman and rule her household. Though Mongol women have a hard life, they have equality with men."

"I used to think that mixing blood was a dreadful crime," mused Lynn.

He leaned close, fingering the musical instrument that was in his hands. "Now, what do you think?"

"I think it's inevitable and part of the plan. You can't tell me, Temu, that you're pure Mongol."

"You've noticed that?"

"I noticed it the first time I saw you. My people have lived in America since the settlement of Vermont. Perhaps there's Indian blood in me."

He looked up into her face. "What are you driving at, Beautiful?"

"Perhaps I'm not good enough for the Prince if he couldn't find a Mongol girl good enough for him."

"He never tried to find a Mongol girl; he only tried to find you."

The lama who had drunk most of the wine, now asked Temu a special question. The others joined him.

"What's the joke?" she asked.

"They're making sport of me because you wear a sash, the badge of maidenhood. Shall I tell them you're a goddess and I'm but a common man?"

"Tell the lama to begin his prayers," she said shortly.

"It's a good idea."

Coastal Ship Lost

VERA CRUZ, Mexico, Dec. 7—(AP)—The 600-ton coastal steamer Grijalva, with 25 crew members and five passengers aboard, was 10 days overdue today on a voyage from Carmen to Vera Cruz. Five airplanes and three coast guard cutters took up the search but the vessel was generally given up for lost. She ran into heavy seas.

Over-Emphasis On White-Collar Jobs Is Called Mistake

Supt. Liebendorfer Declares Schools Should Not Forget Need For Skilled Workers

Calling for "an equalization of educational opportunity that will enable the children of all the people, rich and poor, of every race and creed, to have their chance to really prepare for jobs and future security," Supt. G. F. Liebendorfer of Sidney, president of the Nebraska State Teachers association, addressed a meeting of the delegate assembly at Hotel Lincoln Friday night.

"We must all do our part in preserving the American way of life," the president said. "Surely schools can improve upon their citizenship training and citizenship practices.

"Armies and navies may be the need to present day emergencies, but the real future of democracy rests in the training American youths receive in the schools."

The speaker brought out that vocational education is "beginning to come into its own. But there is not enough of it," he declared. "Only 7 per cent of Nebraska high school graduates have received vocational training."

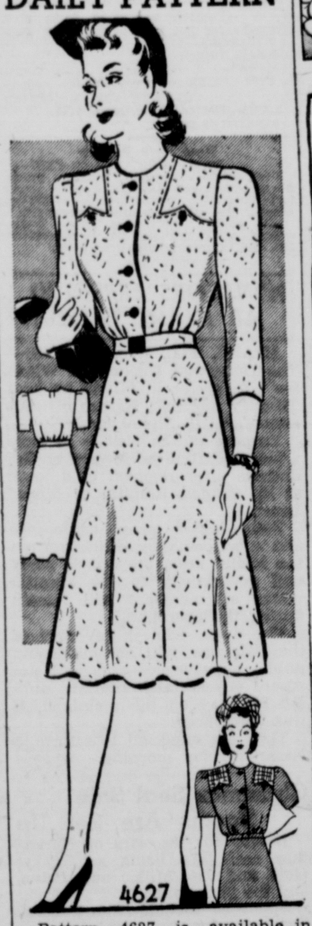

He then asked this question: "Why have our schools gone on preparing nearly all of their graduates for white collar jobs, while industry has been clamoring for people who can use their hands? Has this been because schoolmasters and parents have been obsessed with the thought that college entrance requirements are most important?"

Mr. Liebendorfer commended the N. S. T. A. for the work that organization has been doing to better conditions in the public schools of Nebraska. He said further that "it is encouraging to see the development in our secondary program."

Archer L. Burnham, Lincoln, N. S. T. A. executive secretary, made a plea for wisdom among teachers and school board members during the present war situation. "The twenty-nine million children of school age in the United States should have the best facilities and guidance possible," he said.

Following the speeches routine business of the assembly was transacted. Reports of the executive secretary, auditing committee and reading circle committee were discussed and adopted.

BRAIN TWIZZLERS

By Prof. J. D. Flint

A very successful lawyer maintained homes in two parts of the country. In order to have any time in both of them he had a standing arrangement with the pilot of a privately owned airplane to fly him from one to the other for two hundred dollars per round trip. One day just before departing for his other home the lawyer had a telephone call from an acquaintance who wanted to fly to a point half-way from the point of departure to the destination. He offered to pay the proportionate amount of the expense. As it turned out the lawyer picked him up again on the return trip. What should the acquaintance have paid to be correct?

Answer To Yesterday's Twizzler.

Peter Ponderhead came to the conclusion that if 3 was 1-3 of 6, then 4 and ½ would be ½ of 6. He was right.

$35,000 of Parimutuel Monies Can't Be Paid Because of Litigation

State racing commission members contend that they cannot distribute $35,000 in parimutuel monies to county 4-H clubs and agricultural societies as provided by statute because of a Custer county District court action involving the fund.

Answering a District court case here to compel them to divide the money, the commissioners alleged that the Custer county case affects the same subject matter and they cannot distribute the funds in their hands while it is pending.

The Custer county case was brought by Ralph W. Slocum and Malcolm B. Wilcox, who contend that the parimutuel fees should be turned over to the general school fund. Slocum and Wilcox have intervened in the Lancaster county action, brought by several agricultural societies and their leaders, with the same contention.

John B. Watkins, Joseph C. Myers and J. B. Rossiter, racing commissioners, asked the court to determine if a judgment should be entered in view of the Custer county case.

Special Election Cost City $2,597

It cost the city $2,597.32 to hold the special election on airport bonds, parking meters, the city employe pension proposal, and tax limitation proposal, City Clerk Theo Berg reported today. In preparation for the election $1,128.65 more was spent on the registration of 13,890 new voters, increasing the total to 46,400, or a cost of 2½ cents each per registered voter.

The largest item in the cost of the election to the city was $1,320, salaries to five judges and clerks in each of the 88 polling places. Supplies cost $672.25, and rent, $413.40. Advertising amounted to $191.67.

In the opinion of Clerk Berg the registration was "just about as near the saturation point" as it will ever be. At most, he added, there would not be more than 50,000 eligibles.

Steels And A Few Favorites Attact Buying

Top Marks Slip At The Finish

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—Steels and shipbuilding attracted buying support in today's brieg market while many leaders in other departments shuffled along without benefit of much bidding.

The trend was moderately upward from the start and, at the best, gains ran to a point or more for favorites. There were a few wider advances. Top marks were trimmed here and there at the close.

Dealings picked up on the selective recovery swing and transfers for the two hours approximated 400,000 shares.

Scant stimulation was derived from war bulletins, although home business developments remained of a heartening nature. Brokers thought the better action of the list was due mainly to the belief of traders that a technical right-about was possible because of the fact the market, for about 12 weeks, has been on the losing side.

Continuance of year-end tax selling remained as a handicapping influence, as did thoughts of the tax bill which may confront shareholders next year.

Stocks in the rising limelight most of the session were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Newport News Shipbuilding, American Shipbuilding, N. Y. Shipbuilding, American Smelting and International Paper preferred.

Motors usually were listless notwithstanding the high production rate in this industry and estimates November sales touched a peak for any similar month in this industry.

General Outdoor Advertising "A" got up more than 3 points, seemingly buoyed by action of directors in voting a payment of $12.50 a share on accumulations for this stock. After this disbursement unpaid dividends on the issue will amount to $14.

The belief steel mill operations in the forthcoming week will be maintained at or near historically high levels aided the metal shares. Steel scrap was boosted 50 cents a ton at Pittsburgh.

Shipbuilding shares responded to the outlook for sizable British orders for ocean going tonnage to replace war shipping casualties.

U. S. government securities pushed up briskly as the move gained headway in Washington to eliminate tax exemption privileges from new federal issues. Other bonds were uneven. Commodities were mixed.

Bath Iron Works swung upward in the Curb and an occasional hoist was given American Cyanamid "B," Bell Aircraft, Pennroad and N. J. Zinc. Among laggards were Electric Bond & Share and American Gas.

Chicago Wheat Close Is Uneven

CHICAGO, Ill., Dec. 7—(AP)—Wheat and corn prices, weakened by early liquidation of December contracts dipped fractions to a cent today but then rallied quickly when buying, attracted by lower quotations, improved. July, 1941, wheat contracts, which advanced a cent, led the rally and closing prices of deferred deliveries showed net gains for the day.

Moderate strength in securities helped to restore grain market buying power. Expanded shipping business, particularly in the corn market, also attracted attention, with almost 300,000 bushels of the feed grain reported sold to move from Chicago. However, private reports were that dealers reduced corn bids in the country.

Trade gossip about possibility of selling some U. S. wheat to Spain was revived but there was no confirmation that negotiations were under waly.

Wheat closed ⅛ cent lower to 1 cent higher compared with yesterday, December 88⅞c, May 86⅛@¼c; corn unchanged to ½ cent higher, December 59¾@⅞c, May 60c; oats ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher.

Earlier wheat prices had reached the lowest level in more than a week, while corn touched lows unequalled here since late in October.

Continuing the decline which got under way yesterday, grain prices sagged about a cent in some cases today, wheat going to the lowest level in more than a week while corn reached lows that have not been equaled here since late in October.

December contracts which until recently were strongest, showed most weakness. December wheat sold off about a cent to around 88 cents, with deferred deliveries sagging fractionally in sympathy. December corn led the decline in that pit, selling down to around 59 cents.

Traders blamed the weakness largely on liquidation by dealers not wishing to take delivery on Decemebr contracts. Some selling represented stop loss orders by traders who expected a continuation of the recent upturn. The market's action largely ignored strength of securities although this factor helped to steady grains.

Recent weakness of spot corn prices and signs of increased country selling attracted attention of dealers but there was comment that the lower prices may tend to diminish sales. Cash corn yesterday was quotaed 2½ cents over December for No. 2 yellow compared with a stiffer premium several days ago. Oats were quoted 1¼ to ½ cents over December for No. 1 white. Some of the corn selling was regarded as hedging for outside markets, which have been outbidding Chicago dealers for cash grain.

The volume of wheat under government loans as of Tuesday was reported at 263,236,849 bushels, a gain of 3,033,829 in a week. The gain was principally in the northwest. The amount of 1939 wheat put under loan last season totaled 167,000,000 bushels. Kansas City reports said processors continued to display keen interest in wheat supplies.

Rye prices were lower with wheat but oats declined only fractionally. Lard also was asy.

NEW YORK BOND REVIEW

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—

BONDS—U. S. government loans stepped ahead today while corporate bonds wavered over a fractionally irregular price range.

Federal issues posted gains running to around ¼ point near the end of the short session. Dealers said the mild flurry of bidding was in anticipation of federal financing expected next week. Outstanding government obligations are tax-free but recently agitation has developed to subject them to tax.

Losses predominated in the foreign dollar list. Trimmed as much as a point were German 5½s of '65, Norway 4s and Columbia October 6s of '61.

Domestic loans traded at slight advances included Remington Rand 4¼s of '56 with warrants, Nickel Plate 4½s, Portland General Electric 4½s, International Telephone 5s and Erie 5s of '75.

Lower were Rock Island General 4s of '88, consolidated oil convertible 3½s, Pensylvania General 4½s of 65 and Missouri Pacific 5s of '77 "F."

Boston Wool

(U S. Dept. of Agr.)

BOSTON, Mass., Dec. 7—(AP)—

WOOL—Trade was very dull in domestic wools on the Boston market during the past week. Sales comprised only small quantities needed for piecing out stocks for old contracts on goods requiring domistic wools. Prices on domestic wools were steady to slightly easier. Interest broadened somewhat on South American wools and prices were steady. Prices were strong on spot Australian wools because of limited supplies to fill an urgent demand. Graded combing bright fleece wools were quoted on a grease basis at 45-46 cents for fine delaine, at 44-56 for half bloods and at 45-47 cents for three-eighths and quarter bloods.

Chicago Butter and Eggs

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—

BUTTER — Receipts, 675,710 pounds; steady; prices unchanged.

EGGS—Receipts, 5,977 cases; current receipts 23½c; refrigerator extras 21¾c; refrigerator standards 21½c. Other prices unchanged.

New York Cotton

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(AP)—

COTTON—Futures lost ground today under pressure of December liquidation and hedging. Selling from Bombay accompanied a sharp downturn in that market. Final prices were 1 to 5 lower. Dec., 10.18; Jan., 10.11 nominal; March, 10.23; May, 10.15; July, 9.97@98; Oct., 9.40 nominal.

MIDDLING—Spot, $10.38 nominal.

GRAIN NOTES

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(AP)—Small quantities of Argentine corn being shipped to United States ports recently apparently are going into bond or destined for Canadian buyers, grain men said today, although the price is on a competitive basis with U. S. corn.

The Argentine government, which has acquired a large portion of the big surplus, was offering corn to exporters f. o. b. Buenos Aires at around 28¼ cents, compared with 24⅛ recently. This compared with above 60 cents for cash corn in the Chicago market. The Argentine surplus for export was estimated at 234,945,000 bushels, compared with only 35,861,000 a year ago.

Central Illinois grain dealers polled by Lamson Brothers & Co., grain firm, estimated an average of 20 per cent of the 1940 soybean crop is still in farmers' hands. The recent decline in prices has had little or no effect on the selling attitude of many producers, traders reported.

A federal and state crop survey in Oklahoma disclosed some winter wheat was damaged by mid-November freezing weather. Damage occurred where growth was rank. However, crop prospects as a whole are above average. Some unharvested corn and sorghums were damaged.

Man of Week in Sports.

THE sports headlines are crowded these days with the names of collegiate all-Americans, especially one Tom Harmon, a whale of a halfback from Michigan, but if you were to take a poll among qualfied experts as to who was the most outstanding football player in the nation, it's a good bet that Ace Parker of the Brooklyn Dodgers would walk off with the marbles.

One-Man Team.

The Ace is a one-man football team. He is equally good offensively or defensively; he calls plays, and he is one of those phenomenal characters able to instill spirit in his mates.

Recently International News Service conducted a survey to select an all-professional football team, and it was this black-haired, broad-beamed halfback who polled the most votes.

Without him the Dodgers probably would have crowded the Philadelphia Eagles for last place in the National Professional league, but with him they finished close on the heels of the Washington Redskins, winners in the eastern division of the circuit.

Defeated Giants.

Last Sunday, Ace led the Dodgers to their first victory in 10 years over their bitter rivals, the Giants, by passing for both of Brooklyn's touchdowns and added both extra points.

Thus, for his stellar play allseason and especially this week, we nominate Parker as our man of the week in sports and our choice for the most valuable player in the pro ranks last season.

Born 27 years ago in Portsmouth, Va., Parker first won athletic recognition by being named on the all-Virginia high school eleven.

May Turn To Baseball.

Four years later he won all-American honors as a halfback for Duke university. In that same year —1937—this ambidextrous athlete was given a baseball tryout with the Philadelphia Athletics.

From then until now he has divided his talents between baseball and football and this baseball spring training season he will accompany the Pittsburgh Pirates to California. If he makes good, he plans to give up his gridiron activities entirely.

Manager Frank Frisch of the Pirates thinks Ace has a bright diamond future—but the Dodgers football fans, and especially Coach Jock Sutherland, are hoping he can't hit the ball beyond the shortstop.

The Same Old Story; Champ Planning Quit

NEW YORK, Dec. 7—(INS)—Lou Nova, California's big blond belter, today can proudly boast that he is one of the few leading heavyweights who has not yet been flattened by Joe Louis.

However, this was due merely to a slight oversight on Joe's part and was by no means a social snub. Joe intends to remedy the situation at the earliest opportunity—probably in March or April —provided Lou gets by Pat Comiskey and Billy Conn.

From one close to Louis we learned today that Joe intends to clean up all possible social engagements within the next year and then retire to lead the life of a country squire on his Michigan dude ranch. Hence, his insistent demands that Mike Jacobs find him at least one little playmate a month for him to belt around.

You may think that some or all the current heavyweights don't rate a date with Joe. But Joe is not a bit snobbish. He'll meet any or all so long as Uncle Mike Jacobs is willing to foot the bills for the party.

Joe's earliest engagement is with Al McCoy in Boston, Dec. 16. Strangely enough, Al is wholly undismayed at the prospect of meeting the king.

OVER THE STATE by ALEX STODDARD

"Beech" Excited.

WITH the announcement that Carl Smiley of Beaver Crossing had won $1,000 on the "Pot O'Gold" program Thursday night comes recollections of a few anxious moments experienced by Coach Ralph Beechner of Lincoln high a few week.. ago . . . One Thursday evening, this writer was in an information-seeking mood and Beechner was the chap who could supply the answers.

'Phone Bell Rings.

THE writer dialed Beechner's telephone number, talked to the mentor and collected the information desired. . . Later, the rotund Lincoln boss revealed that the ring of the telephone bell had given him a severe case of "nerves" . . . The timing of the call coincided perfectly with the dialing of a number by the "Pot O'Gold" program directors . . . But let Beechner tell it.

Ralph "Hit" Ceiling.

"I WAS sitting in a chair, listening to the 'Pot O'Gold' program . . . They were dialing the number when my telephone tinkled . . . I was so certain that I had won the money (total $4,900 that night) that I almost hit the ceiling . . . I dashed to the telephone and lifted the receiver, expectantly awaiting the word that it was the 'Pot O'Gold' program . . . When I found out that the call wasn't from that source, I was so nervous that I hardly could talk" . . . So saying, Beechner rolled up a trouser leg to exhibit a bruise which came when he barked a shin on a chair, he moved that fast to answer the telephone.

"N" Club Banquet.

THE Omaha chapter of the University of Nebraska "N" club is planning to honor the Cornhusker gridders and members of the coaching staff at a dinner next Wednesday at the Rome hotel there . . . Wilson D. Bryans, president of the Omaha "N" club, is making the arrangements, and a capacity throng of 750 is expected to be on hand for the annual affair.

POST-SEASON GAMES TABOO

Big Ten Likely Frown On Rose Bowl Idea; 5-4 Against Plan.

CHICAGO, Dec. 7—(INS)—Post-season football was expected to remain taboo in the Western conference today after a final and decisive vote on the issue at the annual mid-winter meeting of Big Ten faculty representatives.

5 to 4 Against Games.

Indiana, Ohio State, Iowa and Michigan were reported to have favored lifting the ban, to accept an invitation from the Pacific Coast conference for the Big Ten champion to meet the far west champions each New Year's Day in the Rose Bowl.

But Minnesota, Wisconsin, Purdue, Illinois and Northwestern reportedly were aligned against acceptance of the invitation, making the initial vote 5-to-4 for rejection of it. Chicago, having dropped football, did not vote.

Aside from the bowl question, long a controversial issue in the Big Ten, the absence of Coach Francis T. Schmidt of Ohio State and the fixing of dates and sites for six championship meets held chief interest at the mid-winter meetings today.

Absence of Coach Schmidt, said to be attending the Notre Dame-Southern California game, was taken in some quarters as meaning he is through at Ohio State. The Buckeyes previously were reported more than a little disappointed with the showing of Schmidt's grid men this year.

Eligibility Problem.

Illinois announced it will hold its relay carnival Feb. 15. Coaches today were at work on the job of fixing schedules in fencing, boxing, wrestling and gymnastics. Basketball coaches are to meet tomorrow in the final confab of the sessions.

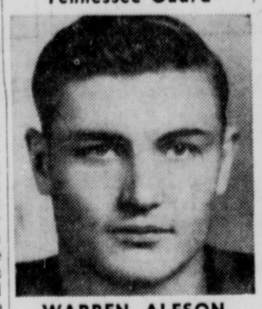

Colleagues of Fielding H. Yost, retiring Michigan athletic director, brought a brown travelling bag to present to him, but Yost was prevented by illness from attending.

The Central Collegiate conference announced it had awarded its indoor track meet to Notre Dame for March 7 and 8 and its outdoor meet to Marquette for the night of June 6.

The eligibility issue was understood to have been tossed into the laps of the athletic directors of the Big Ten by inference at least. The issue arose on the complaint of a non-member school that a prominent Indiana high school football player was lured from the school's campus by a member of the Big Ten. For the most part eligibility problems have in the past been confined to the schools themselves and individual cases have seldom come before the athletic chiefs.

BUCS SEEKING SWAP TO OBTAIN HURLERS

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7—(AP)—Bill Benswanger, president of the Pirates, let it be known today the Bucs hope to put across a trade or so at the major leagues meetings in Chicago next week—and Pitchers will be the objective.

Just back from the Atlanta minor leagues confab, Benswanger commented:

"Trades are pretty hard to make right now, for the reason that we want pitchers — good pitchers, and the clubs we want to deal with are reluctant to talk trade.

"We talked plenty of deals in Atlanta, but if they don't materialize we'll have to depend on our luck in developing young players."

MOVE TO REINSTATE LUISETTI LOSES, 8-7

DENVER, Dec. 7—(AP)—A fight over efforts to restore Angelo (Hank) Luisetti, former Stanford basketball star, to amateur standing bid for a major share of delegates' interest at the second day of the national A. A. U. convention today.

Before the convention's close tomorrow the board of governors will decide Luisetti's fate. Rated one of the best college sharpshooters in California's cage history, he was barred from A. A. U. play for turning movie actor—for one film.

The registration committee rejected 8 to 7 yesterday his plea for reinstatement, but Charles F. Hunter of San Francisco, an A. A. U. vice president, said he would push the fight through the general convention.

ALL the baseball addicts hate to see Paul Waner get the gate, and hope he lands another job that keeps him in the baseball mob, for it was not so long ago that he sat in the upper row... He'd step up there and bust that ball and make the fielders climb the wall...Boy, he could hit and that is why this Waner chap was quite a guy...The Giants got partly off the spot by signing Master Melvin Ott, but in itself that's not enough, for New York fans are very tough...Godoy again will tackle Joe, but why, is what we want to know...And if you were to ask us Bud, the Judge's "fireworks" proved a dud.

A.A.U. Bars Germany For Sports Rivalry

DENVER, Dec. 7—(AP) — The executive committee of the national A. A. U. reported early today it had decided to recommend to the convention that no amateur athlete be permitted to compete in Germany.

The recommendation was understood to have been prompted by the announcement by Roy E. Davis of Chicago, chairman of the boxing committee, that the United States had been invited to send a team to a "world boxing championships" in Berlin in 1942.

The executive committee included no time limit in its recommendation.

COYOTES NIP HUSKER TEAM

Nebraska Cagemen Lose By One Point, 40-39, In Opening Game.

VERMILLION, S. D., Dec. 7—It took two overtime periods for the University of South Dakota Coyotes to subdue a fighting Nebraska U. basketball team, 40-39, Friday night in one of the most thrill-packed contsts ever seen in Vermillion.

Game Always Close.

And the Huskers were true fighters. From the opening whistle to the end of the game, neither team had more than a three-point lead. With 37 seconds of the regular playing time remaining, Sid Held, stellar Husker guard, dunked a field goal to tie the count and send the game into an overtime.

The same Held came through with another basket in the first extra period to give Nebraska a 35-33 lead only to have Howard Taplett, Coyote guard, duplicate the feat and cause another session.

Taplett shot the score to 37-35 in the final overtime period but the tall Held retaliated to again knot the count. Taplett hit a gift toss then Max Young, Husker sophomore, sunk a sensational long shot for a 39-38 lead.

South Dakota surged ahead on Anderson's field goal with less than a minute to go. Don Fitz missed on a free throw and the game was over. The score:

Trojans Vs. Irish On Saturday Slate

COLISEUM, Los Angeles, Dec. 7—(INS)—Against the speed, power and deception of the invading horde from Notre Dame, a determined but flu-bitten gang of Trojans was ready to make its last stand of the season at the coliseum today before upwards of 70,000 fans.

No title is at stake, but the game is fairly well steeped in tradition—this being the fifteenth annual battle—and the records have yet to show a dull Trojan-Irish game.

Despite the weakened condition from an attack of flu that sent 15 of its players to the hospital, El Trojan will field its regular players at kick-off time. How long they will last is another question, but they will go down fighting all the way, judging from their attitude at a final chalk talk yesterday given them by their boss, Coach Howard Jones.

The Irish were slated to arrive early today from Tucson, Ariz., and they will find themselves 3 to 5 favorites. They looked good in a brisk workout at Tucson yesterday and in a brisk warmup at Pomona, Cal., just outside of Los Angeles.

PYTLAK MAY GO TO ST. LOUIS IN TRADE

CLEVELAND, Dec. 7—(AP)—The Cleveland Indians are "willing" to trade Catcher Frankie Pytlak to the St. Louis Browns for a heavy-hitting outfielder, says C. C. Slapnicka, vice president of the Tribe.

Slapnicka indicated this after William O. DeWitt, Browns' vice president, declared at St. Louis his club would make an effort to acquire an experienced catcher and mentioned Pytlak as a possible choice.

PREP ROLL OF HONOR IN SUNDAY EDITIONS

The Lincoln Newspapers' state high school football honor roll and honorable mention selections will be announced in the Sunday, Dec. 8, editions of the Star and Journal.

The nominations were made by Alex Stoddard and Glenn Trump after careful consideration of hundreds of communications from officials, coaches and newspapermen over the state.

Big Six Dons Devise New Plan Naming Tourney Entry.

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 7—(AP) — Faculty representatives and coaches of the Big Six conference dotted the hotel lobby today, basking in the reflected glory that came to the circuit in the selection of Nebraska as the football foe of Stanford in the Rose Bowl game.

Congratulate Biff.

They relinquished the committee rooms they shared Friday with the Missouri Valley conference to the five smaller Missouri and Kansas conferences whose winter meeting dates coincided with theirs.

Only a few routine business matters remained for both the larger circuits.

At one end of the corridor Big Six directors congratulated (Biff) Jones, Nebraska coach, while at the other the faculty dons, every bit as proud, still were reluctant to weaken their opposition to post-season contests.

Abolish Cage Playoffs.

To show their temper, the professors passed a rule which did away with playoffs to determine the league's representative in the regional N.C.A.A. basketball playoffs.

Last winter, Kansas, Missouri and Oklahoma tied for the title. They held a two-day playoff. Kansas won and went on to second place in the national championships, won by Indiana.

Hereafter, the squad with the widest margin of difference between its own offense and that of its opponents will go to the sectional playoffs, if there's a tie for the league championship.

Dr. H. H. King of Kansas State was elected delegate to the national meeting in New York City.

Valley faculty members postponed until the spring meeting their decision on Wichita university's bid for membership to replace Washburn, which withdrew effective Jan. 1.

Both the Big Six and the Valley pledged their support in fostering health and body building programs as contributions toward the national defense. The Valley ruled that none of its athletes should lose any eligibility for sports competition in military service.

While Biff Jones was taking bows for his Nebraska championship, coaches congratulated Jim Lookabaugh of runnerup Oklahoma A. & M. for not winning the Valley grid laurels. (Chet Benefiel, who won the crown for Tulsa, resigned under fire Monday. Jimmy Conzelman, who won it for Washington U. of St. Louis in 1939, also quit under fire at the end of that season).

MAJOR JONES SEEKS 'SAVVY'

Husker Mentor to Watch Pro Game; Offense Like Stanford's

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 7—Intent on getting all the savvy possible pertaining to the system of offensive magic by which Coach Clark Shaughnessy has steered his Stanford Indians into the Pacific Coast championship as well as the Rose Bowl, Major Jones of the Nebraska Huskers headed east out of Kansas City today to inspect the climactic combat of the National Pro league season at the nation's capital city.

Will Take Notes.

Before boarding an airplane at 11 o'clock this morning, the Major admitted it was his plan to take copious notes of the Chicago Bears' offensive system, which duplicates that of Stanford and which Shaugnnessy commonly is reputed to have collaborated with Owner George Halas in devising for the joint use of both the Bears and the Stanford teams.

In the stands at Washington, where the Bears will come to grips with the Washington Redskins, will be Glenn Presnell, the Major's backfield helper of the Nebraska U. coaching staff.

Major Jones urgently was invited to stay over in Kansas City tonight to go before the mike during a special "Red" Grange program, but the call to Washington was more important, so "Biff" checked out of his hotel and headed for the flying field. He is due in Washington late Saturday afternoon.

Reagan Mulls Over Diamond v. Gridiron

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 7—(AP)—Penn's standout halfback, Frank Reagan, is debating whether to take up pro baseball or football after he graduates next June.

He wouldn't turn down a pro grid offer "if it is high enough," and believes that he has a "fair chance" of becoming a big league baseball player "which I certainly would like to do." He said several major league teams that have scouted him include the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Reagan, in town for the Dapper Dan club charity banquet tomorrow night, batted .333 for the Quakers last season and will captain the team next spring. He's an outfielder and catcher.
